FOREST FIRES ON CALIFORNIA RAMPAGE

State Division of Forestry firefighter digs in as flames crackle toward southern boundary of Yosemite National Park. This fire was fairly well under control today, but the fire situation in Southern California was so critical that help outside California was called for. Among the Northern California fire-fighters were San Quentin Prison inmates, one of whom collapsed on a fire line. Another vanished, presumably in an escape attempt. See stories on page 2. Novato City Hearing Set Aug. 28

A public hearing on the proposal to incorporate Novato was set for 9 a.m. Aug. 28 by the Marin County Board of Supervisors today.

The hearing will be in the supervisors' chamber in the county courthouse in San Rafael. The Friday date was chosen to allow long discussion without conflict with the board's regular Tuesday meeting agenda.

Paul Brindel of Novato, ardent opponent of the incorporation proposal, appeared at today's board meeting to challenge the legality of the incorporation on several grounds.

He pointed to a letter from the Trans-Western Title Co. advising the board that the title company intended to sign the petitions merely as trustee for a single client—Crown Development Co.—but failed to specify this fact and thus appeared to sign on behalf of all properties to which it holds title as trustee.

Brindel said there are 133 such parcels, and if they are taken off, the petitions would no longer bear signatures of owners of the required 25 per cent of value of all property in the area proposed for incorporation.

He also attacked the petitions on grounds that one signer, a corporation, has not filed its articles of incorporation with the county clerk, and on grounds that some persons who circulated petitions and attested to signatures on them had signed the same petitions and were thus, in effect, notarizing their own signatures.

Brindel's objections were referred to County Counsel Leland H. Jordan for study and report at the public hearing.

New Airport Bond Try Approved By San Rafael Council

Committee To Head Campaign For Strip At Pt. San Quentin

The City of San Rafael will start the ball rolling for a new attempt at a bond issue to develop a county-city airport at Pt. San Quentin.

Mayor John F. McInnis last night received unanimous assent of the city council to his proposal that he call a meeting of interested persons and organizations to form a committee to start work on "reactivating" the airport proposal that was killed by vote of the people in last November's election.

Last time out, no one approached San Rafael officialdom, although the airport would lie within the ctiy. This time, San Rafael will be pushing for the port.

Whether the expected decision of the county board of supervisors to allocate the remainder of an aviation gasoline tax "kitty" to building a runway at Novato Airport will damage the chance for federal funds for the Pt. San Quentin development was argued by two airport advocates who appeared before the council.

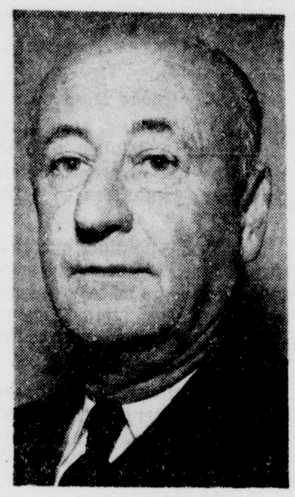

Arthur Kendall of the state Aeronautics Commission said he did not think developing a "substandard" runway at Novato would affect possible federal appropriation. He stressed that the Federal Aeronautics Authority would not contribute "one cent" to the Novato airport.

It is ruled out, he declared, because "the military will not allow you to develop Novato Airport . . . If the Air Force goes into mach 2 aircraft, as it apparently is, they will need all the air space there for their own planes."

Hub Woman Injured; Cottage Total Loss

James E. French III's young wife was painfully burned yesterday afternoon when a gasoline-triggered explosion and fire swept through their four-room cottage in San Anselmo.

The small house and its contents were a total loss, according to the San Anselmo Fire Department. Damage was estimated at $12,000.

Mrs. Jocelyn French, 21, was carried from her flaming kitchen by French, son of the wealthy Bay Area auto dealer. Mrs. French is expecting a child. Her 22-year-old husband is still hobbled by an attack of the bends suffered while skin diving in January.

Mrs. French was reported in "fairly good condition" today at Ross General Hospital with first and second degree burns of her feet. She was given emergency treatment yesterday at Marin General Hospital but was transferred because no bed was available.

The Frenches had been using gasoline to clean a garbage can at the rear of their cottage at 292-A Butterfield road in San Anselmo.

Firemen reported that Mrs. French took a bottle of gasoline to the kitchen and was about to put it under the sink when it slipped from her hand, shattered and the contents were ignited by the pilot light of a water heater.

Asst. Chief Frank Sousa said the entire cottage was engulfed in flames when firemen responded to a 4 p.m. alarm. Neighbors in a courtyard of five cottages were using garden hoses to wet down their homes. The houses are approximately 15 feet apart.

Damage was confined to the French cottage although clothes hanging on lines on either side were scorched, Sousa said.

Sousa estimated damage to the cottage at $8,000 and to its contents at $4,000. The Frenches were unable to salvage any of their belongings, he said.

Seven San Anselmo firemen under assistant chief manned a large and a small pumper truck. The fire was under control six minutes after they arrived, Sousa said.

Sonoma Names Frank Kelly As Police Chief

The long-time San Rafael chief was appointed to the Sonoma job by unanimous vote of the Sonoma City Council last night. He will head a five-man police force, at a starting salary of $458 a month. The job is not covered by civil service.

26 APPLICANTS

Kelly was selected from among 26 applicants for the Sonoma chief job, which has been open since former Chief Joseph Cozzolino became undersheriff of Sonoma County in April. Patrolman Clarke McIntosh has been acting chief in the interim.

Expressing pleasure at his appointment, Kelly said today, "I'm glad to get back to this kind of a job. It's more of my type of work."

He has had several opportunities for similar jobs in Southern California, "but I didn't want to go there."

ASSISTANT JAILER

Kelly has been serving as assistant chief jailer under County Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos.

"I was fully aware of the possibility of former chief Kelly being considered for police chief by the City of Sonoma when I hired him," Mountanos said. "I hired him solely be-

30 BIG SHARKS CAUGHT OFF GOLDEN GATE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Thirty soupfin sharks, from six to eight feet long and weighing 50 to 100 pounds, were taken yesterday in a trawler's drag nets about 15 miles off the Golden Gate.

The crew of the trawler, operated by Western California Fish Co., said it was one of the largest shark catches in the area in years. The soupfin is harmless.

San Rafael Woman, 74, Badly Burned

A 74-year-old San Rafael woman was seriously burned this morning when her dress caught fire as she burned papers in an incinerator.

Amanda Lochner, 74, of 329 G street, was listed in "serious" condition at San Rafael General Hospital with severe general burns on her body.

Her life may have been saved by a friend who tore the flaming dress from Mrs. Lochner and wrapped her in a blanket.

The friend, identified as Mrs. Dee Norman, lives in an upstairs apartment at the same address.

Mrs. Lochner was taken to the hospital at 9:20 a.m. by Ambulance called by a garbage collector working in the neighborhood.

1,600 Salk Shots On Hand Here

Marin County's health department has on hand sufficient Salk polio vaccine for 1,600 "shots"—about a month's supply—and will continue its program of thrice-weekly free inoculations.

This was learned today as it was reported that a nationwide shortage of the vaccine now exists, on the heels of unexpectedly heavy demand, and that with California distribution house shelves bare, there is no prospect of immediate renewal of supply.

The Marin health authorities have on file with their regular San Francisco supplier an order for 5,400 cubic centimeters, each "cc" being the amount of a single shot, reported Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

The health department will continue free inoculations every Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 1 to 4 p.m. at 920 Grand avenue, Dr. Albrecht said.

The program resulted in administration of 1,800 shots last month, indicating that the remaining 1,600 shots should last through August.

New Greenbrae Interchange Open

Northbound traffic began using the new Greenbrae interchange on Highway 101 at 11 a.m. today, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Hub Trustee Post To Mrs. Eiserich

A far-from-unanimous Marin County Board of Education last night approved appointment of Rose Elvira (Mrs. Eric W.) Eiserich to the San Anselmo School District board.

Mrs. Eiserich ran third in a field of five candidates for two seats in last May's election.

Mrs. Eiserich's appointment, announced to the county board by County Supt. Virgin S. Hollis, was received with considerable reluctance. Finally the appointment was approved by a vote of 3 to 0 with three members abstaining.

In announcing the appointment, Hollis reviewed the considerable pains to which he had gone in interviewing possible candidates and interested persons who suggested others for the post. He said these included most of the remaining members of the San Anselmo board and W. P. Duhamel, whose resignation from the board had created the vacancy.

Duhamel had recommended Mrs. Eiserich, but the school board had not included her name in the three it had recommended for the appointment.

Mrs. Adele Alpers asked why the superintendent was abandoning "the precedent set by your two predecessors" of accepting a recommendation of the remaining board members, rather than the outgoing one.

Hollis said he had considered all recommendations and had selected Mrs. Eiserich on her qualifications and availability, plus the fact she lived in the Yolandsdale School area, which was not represented on the San Anselmo board.

Mrs. Alpers moved that the county board meet with the San Anselmo board and Duhamel before acting on the superintendent's recommendation. She said she was "disturbed" because the San Anselmo board had not changed its recommendation and because all three persons it had recommended were "highly qualified." She said she would "like to know the reasoning of the board."

Her motion lost on a tie vote, 3 to 3, with one absent. Then OB Cavanaugh moved

Hawaiian Islands Gird For Hurricane's Blow

HONOLULU (AP)—A hurricane packing winds of 130 miles an hour churned steadily westward across the mid-Pacific today, threatening a sidelong blow at the Hawaiian Islands.

This morning the storm, which hurricane trackers call Dot, was 320 miles southeast of Hilo, major city on the Island of Hawaii.

The Weather Bureau predicted the hurricane would sweep within 160 miles south of Hilo by early tomorrow, then veer to the northwest, coming to within 75 miles south of Honolulu early Thursday.

If Dot maintains the predicted course Honolulu will be hit by whole gale winds of 57 miles an hour early Thursday.

The Weather Bureau ordered whole gale warnings into effect for the island of Hawaii, biggest and most southerly of the Hawaiian chain. A hurricane watch and small craft warnings also were ordered for the "big island."

Thus far Dot has posed only a threat and has caused no damage or dislocation of life in the islands. No ships are known to be in the storm area.

As a precautionary measure the Hawaii Red Cross alerted disaster workers and instructed the public on what to do should the hurricane strike.

House Approves Defense Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed by voice vote and sent to the Senate today a bill appropriating $39,228,239,000 to finance the Defense Department for the fiscal year that started July 1.

The compromise measure, biggest money bill of the session, included a 35-million-dollar allotment for advance planning for a 380-million-dollar nuclear carrier.

Belvedere Agrees To Lease Tidelands

The City of Belvedere last night agreed to grant the National Audubon Society a 50-year lease on 200 acres of city-owned Richardson Bay tidelands.

A resolution of intention to grant the lease was adopted by unanimous vote of Belvedere City Council members. Approval of the lease itself was deferred to the Sept. 8 meeting of the council if four points in the contract are clarified to the council members' satisfaction.

Councilmen asked that the lease: (1) Give protection to the city on construction of observation shelters of which they might disapprove; (2) Reword the clause specifying when the area will be closed to recreational use to the city's satisfaction; (3) Show that the city council has the power to execute such a lease and that the National Audubon Society will defend and indemnify the lease in any legal action; (4) Hold the City of Belvedere free from responsibility in any public liability suit.

"We want this area to stay as unsubdivided water for the next 50 years," Mayor Robert P. Watkins said, "but we want the city council to have a say, in what is being built and we want it spelled out.

"We are not protected in this lease and we want protection."

The council's resolution of intention came after council members and Belvedere residents had questioned Putnam Livermore, attorney representing the Audubon Society. He is the son of Mrs. Norman B. Livermore of Ross, president of the Marin Conservation League and leader in the movement for acquisition of the Belvedere tidelands.

Outside Aid Requested In State Forest Fires

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

A rampaging forest fire, which destroyed nearly 7,000 acres of dry timber and brush during the night, was spreading eastward still out of control today in San Bernardino National Forest.

The San Bernardino blaze and the over-all fire situation were termed so critical that U. S. Forest Service officials in San Francisco called for outside help from six western states.

In the northern part of the state, fire-fighters succeeded in checking four blazes, and only one fire was reported uncontrolled.

The state fire dispatcher's office in Sacramento said that Southern California crews stamping out spot blazes in the Nelson Cove fire south of Yosemite National Park would be released today and sent to San Bernardino.

Attorney Thomas C. Nelson of Mill Valley said he had not heard from his brother, Edmund Nelson of Pasadena, who owns timberland and a summer home in Mariposa County northeast of Miami. Nelson said he had not heard the name "Nelson's Cove" before and could not be sure that his brother's property is in the fire area.

Nelson said friends were ribbing him about being a "timber baron." He said the Mariposa County timberland is owned by his brother. His own summer place is near Markleeville in Alpine County.

By late morning, the only uncontrolled Northern California fire was a blaze a few miles north of Harris in southeastern Humboldt County. The fire, which started late yesterday afternoon, was fanned by strong winds during the night and destroyed 1,400 acres of grass, brush and slash.

Prison Lifer Collapses On Fire Line

A San Quentin lifer collapsed yesterday after more than 24 hours on the Sierra National Forest fire line, the Associated Press reported.

Doctors at Mariposa Hospital said that Samuel F. Cavazos, 30, almost died from heat and exhaustion. He was transferred to San Quentin's hospital and was reported "doing fine" today.

Cavazos' temperature rose to 108 degrees immediately after his collapse, doctors said.

He is serving a life term for murder from Orange County. Cavazos was one of a 100 San Quentin inmates rushed to the fire area Friday.

Quentin Inmate Missing From Forest Fire Crew

A San Quentin fire-fighter was missing this morning from a 100-man crew centered near Groveland, Tuolumne County, reported Officer of the Day Bruce Russell.

Charles Steven Dickens, 32, serving a five years to life term for robbery from Alameda County, was first missed at 5:20 p.m. yesterday.

Correctional Officer P. S. Dobreff came across Dickens late in the evening and tried to persuade him to come back, Russell said. The prisoner had a "brush hook," a piece of equipment issued to fire-fighters to cut brush.

Russell said Dickens got away. The correctional officer was unhurt. Russell got a report by long-distance telephone at 1:25 a.m. today.

The Tuolumne County sheriff was alerted and an all points bulletin issued. "I'd rate him 'approach with caution.'" Russell said of the escapee. He is 5 feet 9½ inches tall, 164 pounds, fair complexion, blue eyes, brown hair, and last seen wearing prison-issue blue denims.

Dickens had been at San Quentin since April 1956, and since August of 1956 assigned to the vocational machine shop where he was doing "exceptionally well," Russell said.

Former Novato Vicar Presides

Rev. Peter Farmer, from 1949 to 1956 vicar of Novato's Mission of St. Francis of Assisi, will conduct a "Day of Recollection" tomorrow for Novato Episcopalians at St. Dorothy's Rest at Camp Meeker near Santa Rosa.

Father Farmer is on furlough from Christ Episcopal Church in Cristobal, Canal Zone. He will be chaplain at St. Dorothy's Rest most of this month.

the superintendent's recommendation be approved.

Lyman B. McBride, who lives in San Anselmo, pleaded that there not be a split vote on the appointment. He said he was worried the county board "would do a disservice to the district" by "sharpening the issue over there."

Mrs. Winifred S. Frederick, clerk of the Lagunitas District, said she was "bothered" by the possibility of a precedent in appointing a defeated candidate.

When the vote came, Cavanagh was joined by McBride and Howard Chadd in affirmative votes. Mrs. Alpers, board chairman Nancy Rust and Theodore V. Cole all abstained.

Mrs. Eiserich, a former dress and millinery designer who at one time ran a circulating library and a gift shop in Fairfax, polled 262 votes at the June 9 election to 541 and 464 votes for successful candidates Philip S. Bundschu and Mrs. Roger Hedin, and 143 and 107 for candidates Johnnie V. Holm and Edward V. O'Bid. She has two children and lives at 141 Meadowcroft drive, San Anselmo.

Sausalito Sets School Budget Of $599,140

Sausalito School District trustees last night gave final approval to the district's 1959-60 budget of $599,140, which would indicate a maximum tax of $1.75 per $100 assessed valuation, up from last year's $1.65.

The Sausalito board last night also got a new chairman. George R. Kowski asked that he be relieved of the duties of chairman. Named in his place was Mrs. Minnie Sievers, who headed the board last year.

Trustees also:

1. Accepted the child care center budget of $24,460, financed by a combination of state funds, fees from parents and miscellaneous sources.
2. Voted to install new louvres at Central School at cost estimated at $1,550.
3. Approved purchase of a piano.
4. Extended thanks to developer Rob Rose for installation of a special television cable and outlets at Central School at no cost to the district.
5. Hired teachers Mary T. Hames for Richardson Bay sixth grade and Eleanor S. Allen for Bayside sixth grade.
6. Changed the next meeting from Aug. 24 to Aug. 26, and set an inspection of all schools and facilities for Sunday, Aug. 30 at 9 a.m.
7. Approved payment of warrants totaling $4,796.12.

right to close the area from "sometime in October to sometime in April" were the main points of contention by the council.

Livermore pointed out that if a definite closing date were specified in the lease "we have to ask for the maximum time of October to April to protect the birds.

"If we are able to study the birds and determine their nesting time, then give public notice that the area will be closed, we may find that the birds will need protection only from November to as early as February," he said. "This latitude in specifying the date will give Belvedere residents more months of recreational use of the area for boating."

He said, "As a matter of community relations I am sure the society would confer with the Belvedere City Council before observation stations are erected."

He was not able to give an exact description of what the observation platforms would look like, but said that he would have the description at the next meeting.

Livermore said a caretaker would arrive Oct. 1 to maintain and patrol the Belvedere and county-owned tideland area. The Society would bear all costs of the operation of the wildlife sanctuary.

The next council meeting has been set for Tuesday, Sept. 8, because of the Labor Day holiday, according to City Manager Britton Rey.

AIRPORT

"Right now, Marin has one of the highest priorities in the United States for federal airport funds," he declared. "The minute money is put into the Novato strip, we will drop considerably on the priority list."

But C. J. Fairhurst, a member of the county airport committee recommending the appropriation for Novato, retorted: "Novato is better than nothing . . . and if we don't take the better, we will have just exactly nothing at the end of four months." He referred to the fact that the aviation gas tax "kitty" must be committed this year or it will revert to the state.

Fairhurst estimated it will be four to five years before a bond issue can be authorized, federal funds granted and an airport developed at Pt. San Quentin. Meanwhile, the Novato port must operate "or we will have nothing."

Robert Law of Commodore Aviation said he and present owners of Commodore would prefer to see money spent on the San Quentin development "than either Novato or Commodore." The Commodore seaplane base is to receive a part of the aviation gas tax funds from the county for development.

"We want that new airport built, and when it is built, we will use it," he declared.

Kendall, urging action on the Pt. San Quentin port, declared: "It's just a matter of time before your private airports are out of business because of population pressure."

He stressed that in the present air age, communities must "gear to the air" as San Francisco once "geared to the sea."

Federal aviation authorities, he stressed, have approved the Pt. San Quentin site as the only feasible one in Marin County for an airport which would qualify for federal funds.

Embezzling Suspect In New Trouble

John R. Hendrickson, San Rafael businessman accused in a Long Beach bank embezzlement, was arrested on Highway 101 early today on a drunk driving charge.

California Highway Patrolman Joseph Kendricks, who stopped Hendrickson at 1:25 a.m. near where the highway overpasses Mission avenue in San Rafael, said Hendrickson had driven three miles at about 45 miles an hour with a flat tire.

Hendrickson was booked at Marin County Jail, and released at 2:30 a.m. after posting his own bail of $253.

Hendrickson, 40, who lives at 27 Dellwood court, San Rafael, was charged earlier this year with conspiracy to embezzle $20,000 of a $3,174,710 embezzlement to which a Long Beach banker confessed in a suicide note.

Mill Valley School Tax Rate To Drop

Mill Valley School District trustees approved a budget of $1,160,995 last night, which included a 6 per cent increase in over-all salaries but at the same time decreased the tax rate by about 14 cents.

The tax rate is expected to be about $2.08 per $100 of assessed valuation, Supt. G. R. McConnell said.

The salary breakdown schedule as submitted by McConnell and approved by the trustees calls for a price range of $4,500 to $7,600 for teachers and $7,000 to $9,500 for principals. Increases are also included for secretaries, custodians, bus drivers and other non-certified employees.

The trustees also accepted with regret the resignation of Daryl Hopkins, Edna Maguire School principal who is joining the county superintendent's office, and of Mrs. Marian Harding as business assistant in the district office, who is leaving for personal reasons.

Trustees also approved a series of shifts in principals in the various schools which McConnell described as "building depth in the leadership categories." Included in the changes will be the inauguration of an administrative trainee to be rotated annually.

First of the trainees will be Jean Quarnheim, teacher at Marin Terrace School who will assist Betty Grimm as principal of Homestead and Alto schools.

Leo B. Edson was relieved as principal of Park School and appointed assistant superintendent for business services. Glenn Skelton will be moved from principal at Alto School to Park School.

Trustees adopted the recommendations of the policy development committee and authorized payment of warrants in the amount of $3,610.08.

Trustees set Aug. 27 at 8 p.m. for an executive session to discuss contracts for the superintendent.

Cost Of Hilarita Treatment Cited

The inclusion of the Hilarita Housing Project in the Tiburon Sanitary District treatment plant will cost $35,000, directors learned at last night's meeting.

The county housing authority reported it is interested in use of the sewage disposal facilities for a four-year period only, according to secretary Robert A. Sterling. The sanitary district engineer's cost figures will be further discussed at a recessed meeting set for Aug. 17 Sterling said.

Final plans for the El Marinero Subdivision sewer facilities were approved.

Long Trial Expected In Willis Case

Examination prior to the selection of a jury in the abortion trial of Dr. Jack Willis and his wife, Josephine, of Mill Valley, was started today in the superior court of Judge Thomas F. Keating.

Selection of a jury is not expected to be completed until tomorrow afternoon, and the first witness may not be called until Thursday morning.

Judge Keating told more than 100 persons who had been called for prospective jury duty that he expects the trial will last at least through August.

He said the trial will be conducted on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Dr. Willis was indicted by the Marin County Grand Jury on nine counts of criminal abortion. His wife is charged with participating in six of them.

Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich said the abortions were performed in 1957 and 1958 in the doctor's office in the El Paseo shopping and office center of Mill Valley.

He read the names of prospective witnesses so that anyone being considered for jury duty could disclose whether they know witnesses.

Twelve prospective jurors were called and took their places in the jury box for examination. Only one person had been questioned prior to a two-hour recess at noon today.

Yesterday in San Francisco, the state District Court of Appeal turned down defense attorney Leslie Gillen's petition seeking to examine statements of state witnesses and other documents prior to the start of the trial. A similar petition was denied by Keating yesterday.

Break In Main Causes Flooding

A break in a Belvedere water main early today flooded part of Peninsula road but caused loss of only a relatively small amount of water, according to a spokesman for the Marin Municipal Water District. A crew was at work through this morning repairing the break.

Police Chief William Woodington was called to halt traffic during the dawn hours. He reported no damage.

School Budget At Larkspur Is $661,237

The Larkspur School Distrct board last night adopted a final 1959-60 district budget of $661,237. The tax rate will remain at $1.35 per $100 assessed valuation, said Supt. Carl Tivel.

Included in the budget is $362,540 for instruction, $28,335 for administration, $11,623 for transportation, $50,719 for maintenance and operation of school plants, $30,490 for supplies, $29,419 for auxiliary services, $37,113 for state loan repayment and $10,774 for food service.

The undistributed reserve was set at $50,528 and the general reserve at $2,000.

Superintendent Tivel said the budgeted expense of education alone is $540,719, representing a cost of $349.95 per pupil. The total budget is $60,741 more than last year's.

Larkspur district trustees also:

1. Authorized the purchase of a 40-passenger used school bus from Patchett's Transportation Co. With trade-in, the cost will be $1,200.
2. Called for bids for providing district transportation service, provided last year by the Patchett firm. Bids will be opened next Tuesday night. (The district operates one bus of its own, contracts for other pupil transportation.)
3. Named Trustee Jack Mengel to the Marin County School Trustees Assn. and a new term on the Larkspur-Corte Madera Joint Recreation Commission.
4. Hired Elwood Ford of San Anselmo as a sixth grade teacher, Mrs. Royna Johnson of Mill Valley as a secretary in the district office, and Robert Freeman of Larkspur as a custodian.

CAL CREW 4th, SO COXSWAIN GOES TO JAIL

OAKLAND (AP) — Carrying an armload of textbooks, Ralph A. Udick, 21, coxswain of the University of California crew, showed up at the county jail yesterday to start serving a five-day sentence for speeding.

Udick was caught going 75 miles an hour on an Oakland freeway on June 10.

Municipal Court Judge Clare D. Horner, an old UC man himself, had promised to suspend the sentence if the Cal crew won the collegiate rowing championship at Syracuse. Cal came in fourth.

cause of his law enforcement experience and background. I wouldn't try to hold him back if he has a chance to better himself. I'm wholeheartedly in favor, and if Sonoma doesn't work out, he's more than welcome to stay here."

Kelly became San Rafael police chief in 1943 and served four terms. He was defeated for a fifth term last April by his lieutenant, Charles J. Chisea, by a vote of 3,090 to 2,209.

Subsequent to his defeat for re-election, Kelly was offered a job of administrative assistant to the city manager of San Rafael, by 3-2 vote of the city council. The job was to pay $500 per month.

But Kelly turned it down, accepting, instead, the job of jailer at $395 per month.

"I appreciate what the city council did for me," Kelly said then, "but I agree I'm not an assistant city manager. If I took that job, they'd be on my back constantly."

Kelly has lived in San Rafael since 1921. He was a plumber before entering police work.

He served with the California Highway Patrol for a year and a half, then was undersheriff on Sheriff Walter Sellmer's staff for six years before joining the San Rafael Police Department as sergeant. He was elected chief after a year and one-half in the department.

He is a 1944 graduate of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's National Police Academy in Washington, D.C. He is a past president of the Marin County Peace Officers Assn., Bay Counties Peace Officers Assn. and Mt. Tamalpais Parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West, and a member of the California Peace Officers Assn. and San Rafael Elks Lodge 1108.

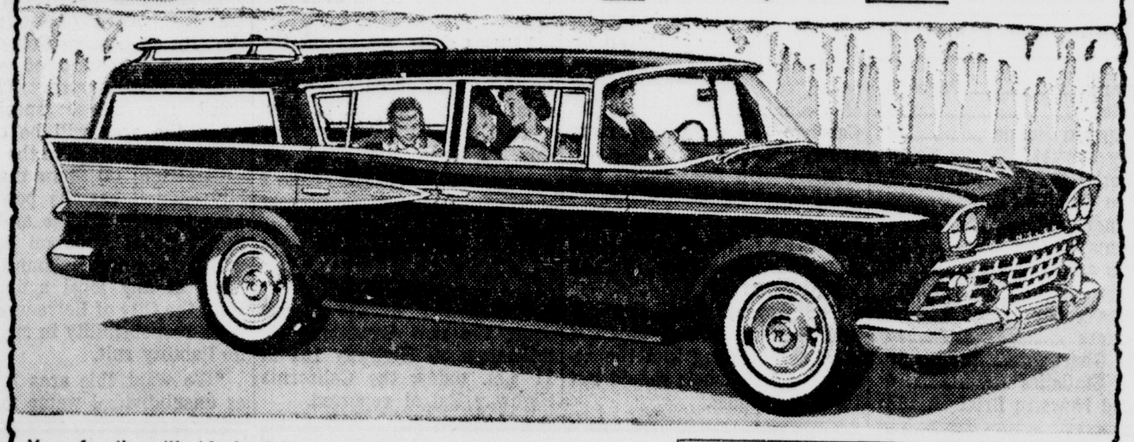

Kelly and his wife live at 17 Prospect drive, San Rafael. He said his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James J. Gilmartin, will move into the home when he moves to Sonoma.

San Rafael Plans Big Road Project

The City of San Rafael will open bids the night of Aug. 17 on a project that will mean new surfacing for some 40 streets.

The surfacing program, styled "preventive maintenance" by Public Works Director Norris Rawles, saw about $130,000 spent on streets throughout the city last year. This year's program calls for an outlay of about $100,000, with none of the street sections that received new "black top" last year being duplicated.

The bid call was approved unanimously by the city council last night.

The specifications give the city the right to amend the list, and Rawles stressed that there probably will be additions. But as it stands now, the project calls for new surfacing this fall on the following streets:

Summit avenue its entire length within the city; Sea way its entire length; Jewell street from Eucalyptus to Grand avenue; Glen Park avenue, from No. 239 to Myrtle avenue; Myrtle avenue from Villa to Glen Park; Villa avenue, from Grand avenue to north city limits.

PALM AVENUIE

Palm avenue, from Jewell street to Magnolia; Magnolia avenue, from Palm to Locust; Jewell street, from Mission to Valencia avenue; Valencia avenue, from Jewell to Belle; C street, from Third to Treanor street; Willow street, from Taylor to Elford; Elford street, from Willow to C street.

Picnic avenue, from Woodland to Bungalow; Bungalow avenue, from Picnic to Woodland; Eva street, from Woodland to Picnic; Siebel street, from Woodland to Picnic; Blossom drive, from Redding way to cul de sac; DuBois street, from Redding way to Glenaire; Glenaire drive, from DuBois to cul de sac.

HLLVIEW AVENUE

Hillview avenue, 600 feet west from Irwin street; Irwin street, from Bret Harte playground to Harte avenue; North San Pedro road, eight-tenths of a mile north from Knight drive; C street, from Treanor street to Wolfe avenue; Reservoir road, from Ross street to Miramir; Miramar avenue, from Reservoir road to Miraflores and from First Street to end of Miraflores.

First street, from D to E street; Albert Park lane, entire length; Mission avenue, from B to E street; G street, from Second street to Forbes avenue; Second street, from its juncture with Fourth to E street; A street, from Third street to end.

County Takes Two Duties In San Rafael

The City of San Rafael took itself out of the assessing and tax collecting business last night.

The city council passed unanimously an ordinance which turns over all assessment and collection of taxes to Marin County, effective next year.

The change has been urged by both City Clerk-Assessor W. L. Morgan and City Treasurer-Tax Collector Angelina Soldavini, each of whom will lose half of a hyphenated title under the new setup.

Speeding through a short agenda with all members present, the San Rafael city fathers last night also:

1. Approved rezoning from duplex to apartment zone of a portion of property owned by Julius J. Frnjak at First street and Miramar avenue, to permit construction of a medical clinic building. The council was informed by Mrs. W. Roosvear, a neighbor, that all residents of the neighborhood were in favor of the change.

2. Gave a representative of Coleman School parents assurance that the city is willing to close Watt avenue for expansion of the school grounds if the school district will agree to construct a cul de sac where the street will end and relocate a power line.

3. Set for Aug. 10 at 9:45 a.m. a hearing on Calvin C. B. Wheele'rs appeal from a planning commission rejection of his tentative map of Terra Linda Meadows. The time set is 15 minutes before the council will go into session as a board of equalization. Councilmen indicated that if Wheeler agrees, the hearing will be postponed to Aug. 17.

4. Adopted by unanimous vote an amendment to the zoning ordinance, covering building heights, which was arrived at as a result of the recent dispute over apartment buildings in east San Rafael.

Appointed City Planner Mitchell Baird and City Engineer Dominic Selmi as San Rafael members of the Marin County Liaison Committee of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

6. Authorized Public Works Director Norris Rawles to spend up to $600 for soils tests in Units 1 and 2 of Rafael Highlands, where he reported slides and water seepage. Unit 1 has been accepted by the city for street maintenance, but Unit 2 has not.

S.F. Mayor Invites Nikita To Visit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mayor George Christopher has invited Nikita Khrushchev to visit San Francisco during his tour of the United States in September.

The mayor promised Khrushchev "all of San Francisco's traditional hospitality and consideration" in a letter sent through the State Department.

A visit by Khrushchev would mark the third time a leading Russian visited the city in the past year, Anastas Mikoyan and Frol Kozlov stopped here during their American tours.

SAN RAFAEL CHALKS UP LARGE INCREASE IN TELEPHONES

San Rafael had the third largest increase in number of telephones for the first six months of this year among cities in its population class in the Bay Area, the California Public Utilities Commission reported today.

The number of San Rafael telephone stations went up 1,390 to 34,313. The San Rafael area includes telephones with GLenwood and HOward prefixes.

Largest increase reported was at Hayward, which added 2,154 for a total of 56,987. Next was an increase of 1,520 to 53,746 at San Mateo.

Richmond gained 1,353 to 48,510, Vallejo 719 to 29,376, Palo Alto 1,309 to 64,308, Redwood City 1,159 to 31,400 and Santa Rosa 1,073 to 28,045.

San Rafael Employees Given Insurance Offer

If San Rafael city employees want improvements in their hospital coverage, they're going to have to tell the city council about it.

The council, its members made plain last night, is willing to contribute some city money toward improving the employees' medical and hospital insurance—which is now paid entirely out of employees' pockets. But first, the employees must tell the council what they want.

Joseph Shearer, representing the California Physicians Service, which now has the city employees' insurance, appeared before the council to ask action on a new, amended, improved plan of coverage—which would call for city contribution.

Shearer opened a lengthy sales talk by reminding the council that the CPS contract expired as of July 31 "so we are taking considerable risk" by introducing the new plan without a new contract.

Mayor John F. McInnis, himself an insurance man and therefore familiar with the sales pitch, informed Shearer flatly that he certainly wasn't going to put in any new contract until and unless the employees association asked the council to sign one.

Councilmen Fred E. Jensen, Charles W. Aby, Joseph F. Sauer and Louis H. Baar weren't buying any, either.

The council, instead, unanimously authorized city payment of an insurance counselor to meet with the employees and explain to them the merits or disadvantages of various plans.

Contract For Road Job May Be Let Today

The San Rafael City Council hopes to award a contract for extension of Lincoln avenue at an adjourned meeting at 4:30 p.m. today.

Low bidder on the project, which would extend Lincoln through the former Little League baseball field to First street, was Ghilotti Brothers, Inc., of San Rafael, at $73,772. Bids were opened July 21, but award of the contract was held up pending agreement with owners of property fronting the proposed extension on contribution of right of way and paying a share toward the paving and sidewalks.

Mayor John F. Mcnnis reported last night that he hoped the contract could be signed this afternoon, as the cost-sharing arrangements had nearly all been worked out.

New Steel Parley

NEW YORK (AP) — Industry and union chiefs — each side blaming the other for prolonging the three-week-old steel strike — have stepped up the pace of their negotiations.

The third joint session since the strike began was called for today. A joint session yesterday failed to break the deadlock that has shut down almost 90 per cent of the country's steel production.

Housing Work Well Ahead At Marin City

The Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency dealt in lots of money at its meeting yesterday afternoon as Executive Director Bert Klahn reported thus far the authority has paid $965,490 to Contractors Williams and Burrows, builders of the Marin City low-rent housing project.

Klahn said this represents about a quarter of the total project, which is considerably ahead of schedule. He said the first 100 units are expected to be completed by March, 1960.

Klahn also reported that the first federal grant for redevelopment, amounting to $119,760 has been received. The first grant will go for engineering and other preliminary functions, Klahn said.

The commissioners set Aug. 17 as the deadline for acceptance by Len Rogers for a compromise plan for demolition of 49 old structures on the project.

Sausalito real estate broker W. Robert Miller received a contract for purchase of 10 parcels of privately owned property within the project boundaries.

At its next meeting, Sept. 15, the board is to award a contract for the sale of some two million dollars of short term notes to finance further progress payments on the low-rent housing project.

Condemned Slayer Asks Clemency

Linden is scheduled to die in San Quentin Prison's gas chamber Friday for the fatal shooting of Leo Wise, a Los Angeles police officer, in 1957.

Anderson, acting in the absence of Gov. Edmund G. Brown, agreed yesterday to hear the plea for Linden's life.

L.A. Votes Raise For Employees

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The city council, overriding Mayor Norris Poulson's veto, yesterday handed 3,000 city employees a 5½ per cent pay increase. It will cost the taxpayers four and one-half million dollars a year.

The vote was 12 to 3. Twelve votes were needed to overcome the veto. Poulson said he vetoed the bill because the council in passing it had not provided for funds to finance the increase.

INVESTIGATION ORDERED

Corte Madera Canal Odor Draws Protest

Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow of Corte Madera last night was given a delicate diplomatic mission concerning a malodorous problem.

The town council asked him to find out why raw sewage is pumped, on occasion, into the Corte Madera high-level canal from a pumping station on Lakeside drive.

It is a diplomatic mission, as Brandow put it, town officials are "walking on eggs" in their relationship with officials of Corte Madera Sanitary District. The district owns the pumping station.

The matter was brought up by Councilman William R. Hansen, who said persons living at the end of Birch avenue have complained about a "high odor" wafting from the canal, which is town property.

Brandow said sanitary district crews, when working on "cloggages" in a high-pressure line, are forced to pump sewage into the canal. He said the district has no intention of doing such pumping on a regular basis.

The manager urged that Birch avenue residents be told to take their complaints to the sanitary district and report to the town if they get no satisfactory response. He said town officials can "lay our cards on the table" with Marin Municipal Water District, "but we can't do that with the sanitary district."

Mayor Roger F. Morse said Birch residents know the town owns the canal and believe "we are the ones who ought to go to the mat with the sanitary district."

Over the mild objections of Councilman Walter S. Long, the council instructed Brandow to make the investigation and present a report and recommendations next month.

"I think," said Long, "we might jeopardize whatever type of relationship Art (Brandow) might enjoy with Adam (William A. Adam, sanitary district manager)."

Corte Madera To Eye Town Fiscal Methods

Corte Madera officials will give town fiscal procedures a close look at an informal meeting at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

The town council last night scheduled the meeting after being told by Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow, "I feel that we're all working together now."

The meeting was scheduled six months ago, but called off when the town's auditor quit in a dispute with the treasurer.

The present treasurer, auditor and clerk are to meet with the manager and council Friday.

Also to be discussed is the matter of $3,313 which developer Frank Rusalem claims the town owes him for earth fill he placed in Tamalpais drive in 1946.

The Corte Madera council last night also:

1. Decided to add fire insurance for the Corte Madera Recreation Center to an over-all policy covering town buildings and determine later whether the Corte Madera Lions Club, which built the center, should reimburse the town. Brandow was asked to have Marshall and Stevens, San Francisco insurance evaluating firm, make an inventory and evaluation of the recreation center and its contents.
2. Approved, without publicly reading them, reports of the public works superintendent, police and fire chiefs, building inspector, zoning administrator and auditor.
3. Adopted a zoning ordinance amendment raising permissible lot coverage in one-family residential districts to 35 per cent for lots of 6,000 square feet or less and providing a sliding scale for larger lots.
4. Adopted an ordinance prohibiting the use of Tamal Vista boulevard and part of Madera boulevard by vehicles of more than three tons gross weight.
5. Adopted an emergency ordinance providing stop signs at the northwest corner of El Camino drive at Estrada lane and the Northwest corner of Cranada drive at El Camino in Marin Estates, and on Seawolf passage at Paradise drive in Mariner's Cove.
6. Introduced an ordinance designating Madera boulevard, from Tamalpais drive to Tamal Vista boulevard, a one-way street on either side of the divider strip.
7. Called for bids for reconstruction of Lakeside drive between Tamalpais and Monona drives and reconstruction of Mohawk avenue between Madera boulevard and Lakeside drive. They will be opened by Brandow Aug. 24 at 3 p.m. and considered by the council at 8 p.m. the same day. Cost of the work is estimated at $21,000, with the state to pay 80 per cent in disaster aid funds.
8. Awarded American Rubber Manufacturing Co. a $2,360 contract for 1,200 feet of two and one-half inch and 800 feet of one and one-half inch hose for the town's new fire truck.
9. Approved warrants totaling $16,192.62. The total includes the town's full 1959-60 allocation of $3,500 to the Larkspur-Corte Madera Joint Recreation Commission, which in past years was paid by installments.
10. Asked Brandow to obtain a "firm commitment" from the workmen's compensation insurance fund that town firemen will be fully covered by workmen's compensation insurance while fighting fires in other jurisdictions under a proposed mutual aid agreement.

STOCKS TODAY

NEW YORK (AP) —Aircrafts took some fairly sharp losses while oils remained slightly ahead in a slowly declining stock market today.

Losses of most key stocks went from fractions to about a point. A scattering of secondary issues made wider moves.

North American Aviation dropped about two. Losses of more than a point were taken by Douglas Aircraft and Martin Co. Lockheed, United Aircraft and General Dynamics were down about a point each.

Brokers said that belated recognition of the possibility that the Eisenhower-Khrushchev visits may ease cold war tensions combined with unfavorable aspects of the aircraft business to bring in some selling.

Polaroid scampered ahead more than three. American Machine and Foundry gained more than a point. General Tire dropped more than three.

Pan American World Airways was active and down more than a point as were Radio Corp. and Philco.

Texas Instruments fell about two. Motors rose after early indifference. Steels were narrowly mixed.

Man Accused Of Swindle Surrenders

Promoter Ernest A. Montano, 46, formerly of San Rafael, yesterday surrendered to San Francisco police to face charges of swindling two San Francisco men on a scheme involving a proposed Marin supermarket development.

Montano had been sought by police for a week on the swindle charges. He is also wanted in Mill Valley on charges of passing two bad checks amounting to $135.

After Montano gave himself up yesterday, he was booked on 12 counts of grand theft and two counts of selling stock without a permit.

The charges grew out of a complaint by two San Francisco barbers, Edmund A. Alipranti, 45, and his father, Vincent, that Montano took $10,300 from them on the pretense that he was going to develop a large shopping center in Marin's Lucas Valley.

There are more than 76,000 part-time teachers in American institutions of higher learning.

San Jose Sets School Budget Of $764,397

A 1959-60 budget of $764,397 was given final approval last night by trustees of the San Jose School District.

The budget is $308,537 greater than the actual expenditures for 1958-59. However, the general tax rate of $1.39 per $100 of assessed valuation is expected to remain unchanged, said Supt. Philip W. Schneider.

Income to the district for 1959-60 is expected to exceed last year's because of increases in state apportionments ($426,335), federal subventions ($190,995) and local taxes because of increased assessed valuation ($78,033).

Biggest reason for the nearly doubled budget, said Schneider, is the necessity of hiring 44 new teachers, bringing the total teaching staff to 63. Most of the new teachers will be at the enlarged Meadow Park School adjacent to Hamilton Air Force Base, he said.

Last night's meeting was limited to budget considerations.

Top Planner Gets Raise

Over the objection of Supervisor William D. Fusselman, the Marin County Board of Supervisors today approved an $80-a-month pay increase for County Planning Director Mary Summers.

The increase is from salary range 29 at $782 to range 31 at $862, and it was the two-range boosts that aroused Fusselman's opposition.

Fusselman argued that other county department heads on a long list of proposed salary increases were being given only one-range boosts and the double raise for Mrs. Summers would be "favoritism."

Supervisor Vera Schultz defended the proposed boost for Mrs. Summers on grounds her department's function is of vital importance to Marin, and pointed out that the raise would merely bring her salary to the same level ($862) as that of Alan Bruce, assistant county administrator.

Finally the board voted 4-1, Fusselman dissenting, to grant the Summers increase, then approved the rest of the list of pay raises unanimously.

State Says Pomeroy To Lose License

Suspension of the driver's license of Robert Newell Pomeroy of Ross was declared a certainty today by an official of the state Department of Motor Vehicles in Sacramento.

Rom Bright, deputy to Motor Vehicle Director Robert McCarthy, told the Independent-Journal the suspension would be ordered on receipt of the abstract of a Marin Municipal Court conviction for drunken driving.

"That's our policy—we suspend without exception now," said Bright.

Judge J. Harold Haley, who sentenced Pomeroy last Friday, expressed interest in view of the fact that the sentence included definite recommendation that there be no suspension. In an exercise of judicial function, the judge had ordered Pomeroy to use his license for business but not for pleasure driving.

"The power to suspend for a period of six months resides with the court but there is nothing in the law to require the court to exercise this power," said Haley.

Haley added that the law provides that the judge's recommendations be sent to Sacramento along with a transcript of the judgment, but suggested that the very word "recommendation" perhaps implies that motor vehicle officials need not be bound by the court's views.

Try To Beat Housing Bill Veto Loses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) reported today the Senate Housing Subcommittee has rejected by a 5-4 vote his proposal for an attempt to override President Eisenhower's veto of the housing bill.

Douglas said Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.), the subcommittee chairman, and Sen. J. William J. Fulbright (D-Ark.) joined three Republicans to defeat the motion.

This suggested the Senate Democratic leadership had decided against any effort to reject the veto and instead had decided that a new compromi housing bill should be written.

Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) has said he would be guided by the subcommittee's decision on the veto matter.

MARIN FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

4 p.m., San Anselmo—Fire consumed cottage at 292-A Butterfield road, home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. French III; caused when a bottle of gasoline broke in the kitchen and contents were ignited by water heater pilot light; damage estimated at $8,000 to cottage plus $4,000 to contents.

4:47 p.m., Marin City—Fire in furnace room of Unit A-22 when electric system failed to function; blazing wall started automatic sprinklers; damage estimated at $15.

Rites Tomorrow For Ex-Resident Of San Anselmo

Memorial services will be held tomorrow for Anthony Charles Stephan, 65, a former resident of San Anselmo who died Saturday at Wawona in Yosemite National Park.

Services will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo, under the auspices of Marin Lodge 191, Free and Accepted Masons. He was a member of Mariposa Lodge 24, F&AM.

For about six years Stephan had lived at Wawona, where he managed a store and post office. He also served as a Mariposa County deputy sheriff. An electrician and machinist, he had worked at Marinship during World War II and formerly had a cabinet shop in San Anselmo.

Stephan is survived by a son and daughter living in San Anselmo, William Stephan and Mrs. Catherine Hartske. His former wife is Mrs. Hester Feldman of San Anselmo.

Ex-Marin Man Dies In Stockton

Dr. E. F. Schneider, a native of San Rafael and brother of Mrs. Harry S. Mobley of San Rafael, died early today at a Stockton hospital of a heart attack.

Dr. Schneider, who was 65, was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob S. Schneider who operated a number of hotels in San Rafael. His practice has been in Stockton for 40 years.

He is survived by his wife, Mabel, and two sisters, Mrs. Mobley and Mrs. Bert Mucahy of San Francisco.

BOLD eyeframes make you feel ten feet tall

We asked our psychiatrist friends just why so many men prefer bold eyeframes. They simply said, "a bold eyeframe adds muscle to a man's personality. A man has a more positive presence because boldness adds character to the face."

The problem in the past with bold eyeframes was they were too heavy for comfort. But today, with new materials, they are extremely light (one ounce) and very comfortable. They fit better and stay in adjustment better, too.

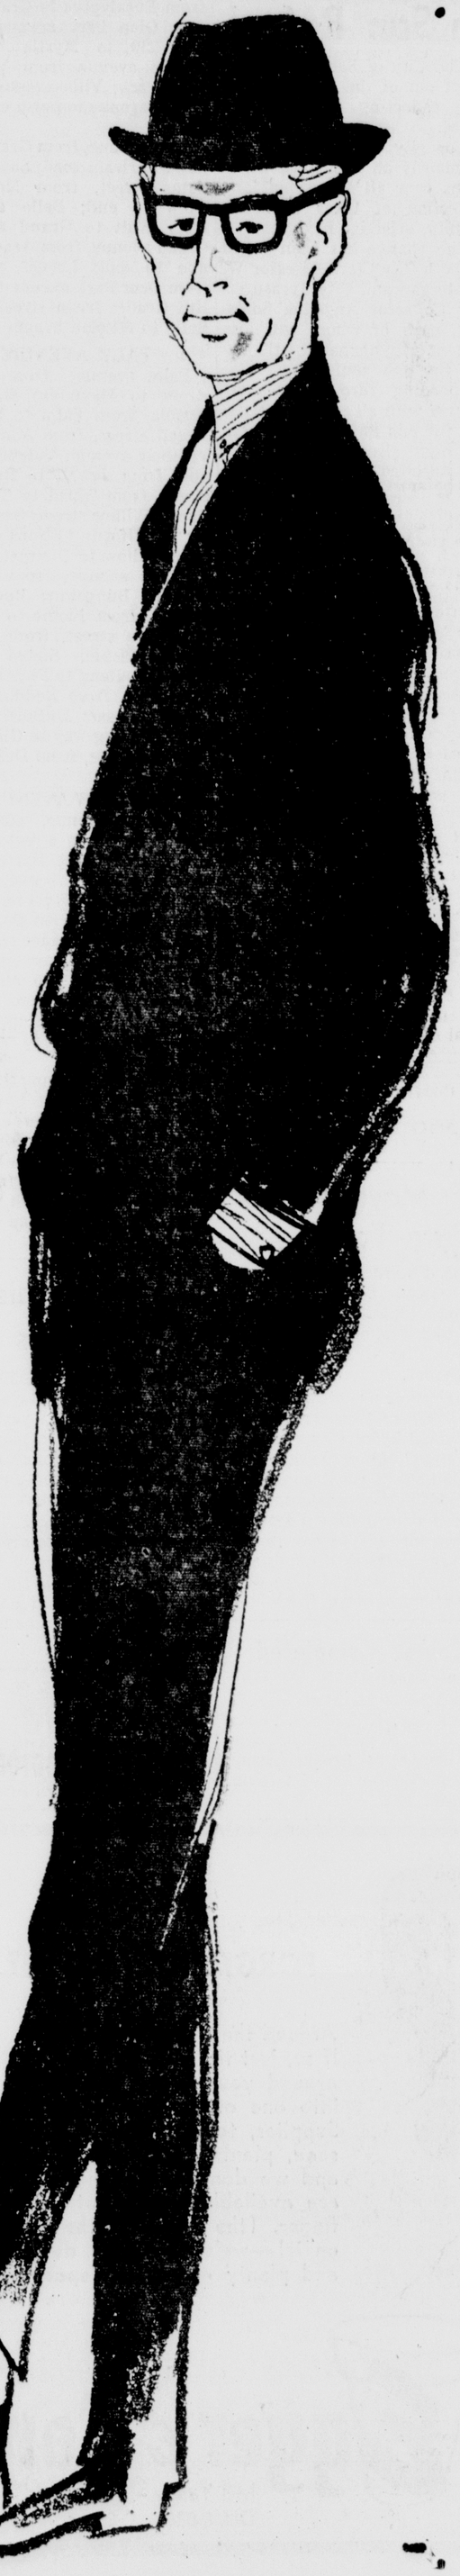

Now we certainly don't say everyone should wear bold eyeframes—but they are worth consideration. Why not come in and try on a few pairs—check your impression of yourself.

We can change lenses from your present glasses into a bold frame while you wait.

Letters Explain Tam High Program

Letters explaining Tamalpais Union High School District's extended-day academic pilot program were sent yesterday to parents of Redwood, Tamalpais and Sir Francis Drake High School students.

Courses announced for the extra 7:30 a.m. period to be offered at the three schools starting next month are as follows:

Redwood: Problems of American democracy, for seniors; U.S. history 5-6, for juniors and seniors; advanced algebra 5-6, for juniors and seniors; Latin 3-4, for sophomores, juniors and seniors, and biology 3-4, for sophomores.

Tamalpais: English 7-8, for seniors; U.S. history 5-6, for juniors and seniors; chemistry 5-6, for juniors and seniors; advanced algebra 5-6, for juniors and seniors, and biology 3-4, for sophomores.

Drake: Physiology 5-6, for juniors and seniors; English 7-8, for seniors; Latin 1 or Spanish 3 (depending on sign-ups), for sophomores, juniors and seniors; biology 3-4, for sophomores, and advanced algebra 5-6, for juniors and seniors.

Registrations for the early-period courses will be accepted by Redwood counselors Aug. 27, 28, 31 and Sept. 2, 3, 4 and 8; by Tamalpais counselors Aug. 27 through Sept. 4, and by Drake counselors Aug. 27-28.

WHY BOTHER WITH THOSE FIRST THREE?

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The caller was concerned about Arkansas' polio epidemic.

"I want to know where I can get my fourth polio shot," he asked.

"Why not go back where you got the first three?" suggested Dr. E. J. Easley, assistant state health officer.

"Oh, I haven't had the first three," the man said, "I just want the fourth one. I've heard that's the best."

E. San Rafael Apartments Fought In Court

The San Rafael Newport Co., land and building developer, has petitioned Marin Superior Court for an injunction against the San Rafael Planning Commission and Custom Builders of Marin to prevent completion of three-story apartment buildings in East San Rafael.

The petition sets forth that Custom Builders, a partnership operated by Robert and William Parnow, has been granted variances on apartment buildings being erected along Canal street.

VARIANCES CITED

The variances include permission to build more than two stories or higher than 30 feet, and 12-foot yards where the ordinance calls for 15 feet. It also says that Custom was granted a variance in allowing 900 square feet per family unit, where the ordinance requires 1,000. Overhang dimensions also are questioned.

The petition says the planning commission can allow variances if "exceptional or extraordinary circumstances" are shown to exist, but asserts no such circumstances were demonstrated.

RECORDS SOUGHT

It asks that the planning commission be asked to produce records and proceedings so the "validity of said variances may be inquired into and determined."

It also asks the court to annul the variances.

The Newport Co. says it owns land in the same area, and that the granting of the variances will depreciate the value of the property.

LAST IN COUNTY

Weed Foe Of Stock Burned Near Novato

A plant named after a character in ancient mythology, but which has a devastating effect on modern farming, was seen—ranchers hope—for the last time today in Marin County.

An acre of Medusa head was to be burned off on the Dolcini Ranch northwest of Novato, Marin County Agricultural Commissioner Thomas W. Peryam reported.

Growing about two feet high, Medusa head looks like barley—except that its beards are curved like hooks.

Eaten by cattle or sheep, the weed's hooked beards work themselves into the animal's mouth, throat and nasal passages. The tortured animal is unable to eat.

The acre of Medusa head burned today in Hicks Valley under the supervision of Marin County Fire Chief Charles Reilley was the only patch known to exist in the county, Peryam said.

He said it was reported to his office by Ernest Ward, a sheep raiser.

Peryam believes the weed was brought into the county by a former owner of the ranch who bought some sheep in Mendocino County, where the plant is prevalent.

Today's burning will be followed up next spring by spraying the infested area.

Rodger S. Jones, 26, of 545 Comstock drive, Tiburon, arrested July 11 on a variety of charges including resisting arrest, is to plead in Marin Municipal Court Aug. 12.

His case was continued in court yesterday.

Jones was stopped by Belvedere police officer Al Mendoza for failure to stop at Edgewater road and San Rafael avenue in Belvedere. Mendoza said Jones hit him and became abusive, and that Jones did not have his driver's license in his possession.

Grade School Course Of Study Given Board

The Marin County Board of Education got its copies of the new elementary schools courses of study last night.

County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis presented each member with the three volumes. Volume 1 for grades 1, 2 and 3, was in printed form, done by a commercial printer. Volume 2, for grades 4, 5 and 6, was multilithed by the county superintendent's staff. Text of Volume 3, for grades 7, 8 and 9, was multilithed with the illustrations printed.

Hollis said his purpose in multilithing the second and third volumes was to get the guides in the hands of teachers before the start of school. He said his office had produced 500 copies. The second two volumes also are being printed, but Volume 2 is scheduled to be completed in mid-September and Volume 3 about Nov. 1.

Two representatives of the International Typographical Union, Fred MacDonald and John J. DeMartini, spoke from the audience to question use of school personnel, rather than printers, to produce the study course. MacDonald said they "would be interested to see that the prevailing wages are paid" to those doing the work.

Hollis assured them that the only reason for the multilithed volumes was the fact they could not be printed in time and that the printing is being carried on anyway.

The superintendent also reported that the cost of multilithing would use up funds earmarked for printing of The Reporter, the superintendent's monthly publication. He said he favored dropping it anyway because of lack of staff to produce a proper publication.

The course of study will be circulated to all teachers in Marin County except in San Rafael and Novato school districts, which have not adopted the course. In addition, the board last night authorized a general list of 225 copies for additional distribution. This included 25 copies in the county schools library for use by the public. A charge of "cost," about $10, will be made for persons not covered by the general list if they desire a personal copy of the course.

Miller Project 8 Years Off, Trustees Told

Mill Valley doesn't plan to start work on making Miller avenue into a four-lane highway for at least eight years, Tamalpais Union High School District trustees were told last night.

Trustee Howard I. McGill, who said he learned this at a meeting with Mill Valley and Marin County officials, added he was surprised because Mill Valley had accused the school district of standing in the way of developing the route.

CAUSES FRICTION

Friction has arisen between Mill Valley and the school trustees over an agreement for the school board to give up part of the former Northwestern Pacific Railroad right of way past Tamalpais High School along the road.

Mill Valley officials have indicated they expect to get a 30-foot wide strip. McGill said the agreement provides a strip "up to" 30 feet wide.

The proposed highway would require 86 feet, McGill said he was told by Mill Valley city engineer Albert H. Siemer.

"Mill Valley now has 80 to 60 feet most of the way," McGill said, "which means they'll need six to 26 feet more."

ALREADY CRAMPED

He termed it "perfectly proper" for the school district to give up the needed frontage but said it would be a mistake to give up more when Tamalpais High is already cramped for space.

Since Mill Valley has made "no preliminary planning whatsoever yet, it's difficult to determine just what they may need," McGill added.

The trustee told the board he was surprised that more formal plans hadn't been drawn up and that it will be "something beyond eight years before the work starts."

McGill told county and Mill Valley representatives at an afternoon meeting he would recommend that the school district grant the county all the land that would be needed to remove a sharp "death trap" turn at the southeast end of Miller avenue at the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks.

DRAINAGE PROBLEM

Another point McGill said he brought up at the earlier meeting was the fill dirt across Miller avenue from Tamalpais High. He said it was ruining the drainage and turning the school athletic field periodically into a lake.

Told by Mill Valley officials the fill was done legally, McGill said he asked that it be looked into further.

Sewer Tax Rate Hiked In Homestead

Homestead Sanitary District directors last night set a tax rate of 30 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, a six-cent increase over the past year.

Secretary Gus Wolf said the increase resulted from an increase in the district's budget from about $7,000 to $11,400 to cover added fees to the City of Mill Valley for enlargement of the sewage disposal system. Homestead contracts with Mill Valley for sewage disposal.

Wolf said directors plan at their next meeting to increase connection fees from $125 to a figure not yet set. The next meeting will be held Aug. 21 at 8:30 p.m. at the Homestead firehouse, in place of the normal meeting date of Aug. 24.

Council Faces Lengthy Agenda At Sausalito

Sausalito city councilmen face a lengthy agenda tonight to be highlighted by a public hearing on the city's long-discussed general plan, prepared by consultant Sydney H. Williams.

The council also is scheduled to give final approval on an ordinance requiring a minimum of 1,250 square feet of land space per apartment unit and to consider an appointment to fill the seat of Planning Commissioner Richard F. Grambow, resigned.

The long pending dispute between the city and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Edwards over variances and encroachments for their barge is slated to be heard again, plus an encroachment request from Sam Zakessian for an ark he owns at the foot of Litho street.

Examination Passed

John K. Mactavish, son of Desmond Mactavish of 11 Treehaven drive, San Rafael, has passed the entrance examination to Bellarmine College Preparatory in San Jose, the Jesuit high school announced.

Salesman To Plead To Battery Charge

Arthur S. Clarkson, 44-year-old Mill Valley salesman, is scheduled to plead in Marin Municipal Court Friday to a charge of battery against his wife. He was arraigned yesterday.

He was arrested Friday after a family argument in which police said he inflicted a six-inch cut on his wife's right arm. He was released from the county jail Saturday on $500 bail.

CAP Presses Plane Hunt

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Civil Air Patrol pilots expected coastal fog to lift later today to allow further search for a private plane missing with four Sacramento businessmen aboard.

Nine CAP craft and Air Force planes searched the Bodega Bay area yesterday, where the men were bound on a Sunday fishing trip.

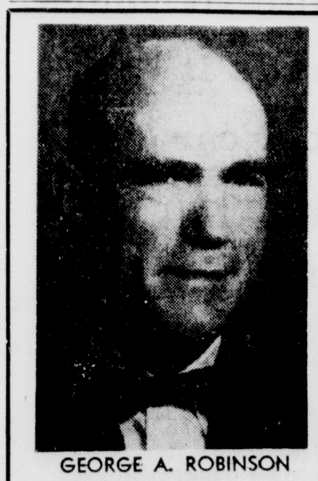

Aboard were Paul Kontra, pilot and tire company representative; L. C. Hall, tire company store manager; M. M. Baggs, service manager for a moving company, and Logan Conner, transportation company superintendent.

FRIENDS:

Are you sensitive about your hearing impairment? One and a half million Americans have overcome the handicap of deafness today through the use of modern electronic hearing instruments. Thousands of children from 2 to 14 years of age have ended their deafness handicap with hearing aids. If a child can do it, you can. A hearing aid is a mark of intelligence . . . it shows statesmen, business leaders, authors, wear their aids proudly!

Tam High Trustees Approve Sharply Increased Budget

Trustees of Tamalpais Union High School District last night adopted a sharply increased budget for 1959-60 to operate Tamalpais, Redwood and Sir Francis Drake High Schools.

The new budget of $3,355,365 is up more than $800,000 over last year's $2,545,936.

Part of the boost will be paid for out of a raise in the district's general tax rate from $1.25 to $1.90 per $100 assessed valuation.

In outlining the budget, Frank A. Cassou, director of business services for the district, said it is "weighted in the direction of recovering from setbacks" from cuts of the year before.

He said the budget also reflected campaign issues in the last election for members to the board of trustees — "what the board promised the taxpayers."

Increases, he said, will go mainly for a "heavy maintenance" program to fix up deteriorating buildings and equipment, for a much higher salary schedule, and for restoring maintenance and clerical employees laid off last year.

Items in the budget include $96,812 for administration, $1,700,542 for instruction, $92,547 for auxiliary services (health, counseling, etc.), $312,418 for operation of the school plant and $156,147 for maintenance.

Expected income will include $55,150 federal assistance, $559,100 state apportionment and $2,332,447 local taxes.

The next meeting of the board was set for 8 p.m., Sept. 14.

In other business last night the board:

1. Awarded contracts to D. Zelinsky and Sons at $11,133 for painting exteriors of three buildings at Tamalpais and the "old building" at Drake; Ames Ford Sales at $2,603 for a new station wagon; Ralph Finney at $845, for painting redwood rustic areas on Drake buildings.

2. Adopted a resolution assigning a right-of-way to Corte Madera for $100 to provide access from Lucky drive to Redwood High School.

3. Hired Harold A. Andersen, 29, of Pompton Plains, N. J., to teach mathematics at Redwood.

4. Accepted the request of Paul Daly, head of vocational arts at Redwood, to be placed on two-thirds time status because of health. The board appointed John Cook as temporary chairman of the department.

5. Heard Harry G. Russell, director of the summer school, report the school has grown from an enrollment of 70 at its start in 1949 to 1,389 this summer.

6. Passed a resolution to borrow $1,800,610 interest free from the county to tide the district over until taxes and state reimbursements come in.

7. Authorized entering a contract with the county for the part-time services of a teacher for the visually handicapped program.

8. Approved a voluntary student accident insurance program with policies costing $2.50.

9. Decided to look into the possibility of buying a $16,000 driver training aid.

Father Asks Tomales Board Be Overruled

After five months and half a dozen meetings, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Hay of Cheleno Valley Road, North Marin, still don't know where their children are going to school this fall.

Last night the Hays asked the Marin County Board of Education to overrule Tomales Elementary School District board and approve two interdistrict agreements which would permit their two younger children to go to Two Rock School in Sonoma County and their older boy to junior high school in Petaluma. The children have been attending Sonoma schools for three years.

LENGTHY PRESENTATION

Hay made a lengthy presentation outlining the family's relationship to the Sonoma residents, rather than Tomales, and indicated he would prefer a five-year agreement so his youngest could get through eighth grade without an annual battle to get permission.

Hay's application was opposed by the Tomales board, two members of which were present, on the grounds the Hay children were not suffering a hardship having to attend their own district's school, and that the district was losing money as a result of their going to another district.

County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis said the out-of-pocket cost for the three children last year, which must be paid by the Tomales district this year, was $354 to the Two Rock School and $339.14 to the Petaluma High School District. He also reported the loss of $375 in state funds by the Tomales District because the three students went elsewhere. Hay challenged these figures.

BOARD DEADLOCKED

The board deadlocked 3 to 3, with Trustee Robert G. Randolph absent, on OB Cavanaugh's motion to deny the agreement. Members decided to await results of a meeting tomorrow night of the Tomales school board and then hold a special meeting, if necessary, to decide where the Hay children shall go before Two Rock School opens on Aug. 31.

In other action, the board:

1. Accepted with regret the resignation of the superintendent's secretary, Mrs. Annabelle Harde, who is transferring to the Tamalpais Union High School District staff. Mrs. Dorothy McMahon becomes the superintendent's secretary, with Mrs. Betty Ager moving into Mrs. McMahon's old job as business secretary, and Mrs. Jean Bottini hired as receptionist replacing Mrs. Ager.

2. Met the new assistant superintendent for education services, Dr. Richard H. Hinze, and the new health coordinator, Daryl Hopkins. Although Hollis was not able to announce his new assistant superintendent for business services, he said he would be able to do so "in a few days." He named Velma L. Avant, who has been doing a project at San Francisco State College, as speech therapist; Wayne Williams of Palm Springs as teacher for the hard of hearing, and Mrs. Bianca Rose Hirsch, formerly with the San Mateo Elementary School District, as a guidance consultant.

3. Were told that Hollis is conferring with San Quentin officials on possibility of the county office taking over education of inmates at the prison, rather than having one of the school districts do it.

Tenant Board Cut Vote Set In Marin City

The Marin City Tenants Council last night adopted a resolution which would reduce its membership from 13 to nine, according to Mrs. Doris Rochelle, council secretary.

The group also approved an added resolution which would permit the council to reduce the membership to a minimum of five if it seems advisable.

Mrs. Rochelle said that with the constantly reducing population at the project, it was virtually impossible to maintain a full membership at the higher figure.

A mass meeting has been called for Aug. 24 at 8 p.m. in the lounge when a popular vote on the measure will be held.

Council members were informed of the formation of a new youth group, the Marin City Youth Council. Frank Johnson Jr., is president and Willie Knighter secretary.

The tenants council made the auditorium available to the group on Saturday night for a dance. No fee was assessed.

Lost Scout Found

FRESNO (AP) — A Boy Scout from Los Angeles who spent his 12th birthday wandering lost in Mono Creek Canyon of the high Sierra was found by a sheriff's posse last night — hungry and tired, but unharmed.

"I kept thinking what a terrible birthday this is," said Marshal Rubin, who disappeared Saturday from a wood gathering detail of a Boy Scout camp.

WHICH WAY IS UP HERE?

No, this picture isn't printed upside down. It's really the way the auto license plate issued to Angelo Cordi of Grandford, N.J., looked. Red-faced New Jersey Motor Vehicle Division officials said the lettering "Garden State" and "N.J." were printed upside down when an employee put the plate in a press the wrong way. The division gave Cordi a new set of plates. (AP Wirephoto)

Three Youths Accused In Marin City Slashing

Two 16-year-old youths yesterday were certified to juvenile hall, and an 18-year-old was scheduled to appear in municipal court today on charges they slashed the face of a San Geronimo boy Saturday night.

One of the 16-year-olds is from Marin City, the other from Vallejo. The 18-year-old is George Gaines of Marin City. Gaines originally was questioned at the sheriff's office and released. Later yesterday he was arrested.

The three have been charged with assault with intent to do great bodily injury, and assault with intent to commit mayhem.

They were arrested after Ralph Whitake of Meadow Way, San Geronimo, blending heavily from several deep cuts on his face, was taken to the Marin City Sheriff's substation Saturday evening.

Investigating officers said they believe the slashing was the result of an argument that stemmed from a boy being tripped on an outside stairway. Who did the tripping was not determined.

Officers said the three arrested were given lie detector tests and that more tests were to be given today.

INDIAN SENDS CHECK

Foreign Aid In Reverse As U.S. Town Gets Help

ROY, N. M. (AP) — The letter was from Davenport, Iowa, but the writer was from India.

It was addressed to the mayor of this little cowtown, which went five days without water when antiquated equipment broke down and there was no money to replace it.

Wrote Vincent G. Thomas: "I am certain that within the past several years the citizens of Roy have contributed to taxes for foreign aid. Much of this aid has gone to India for projects to bring water to many parched areas.

"As an Indian student who has been overwhelmed by the generosity of Americans during the past five years I have been here, I would like to help to reduce the city's debt for a new pump."

The $10 he enclosed was gratefully applied to the cost of the still unpaid for pump which is forcing a reluctant stream of water again through leaky pipes to the town's 750 residents.

Woman's Screams Bring Arrest Of Rape Try Suspect

Joseph Gabriel, 52, of Oak Tree Inn, San Geronimo, was arrested early today on suspicion of assault with intent to rape, after a housewife's screams were heard on a lonely road in Lagunitas.

A resident who heard the screams telephoned the sheriff's office. First investigation produced nothing, but about 1:50 a.m., patrolling deputies found a man who said he was on his way to a telephone to call that his wife had been raped.

The wife, a Forest Knolls resident, told them she had been attacked by Gabriel, whom she knew, after he offered to drive her home from a nearby tavern. Instead of going to her home, she said, he stopped on a lonely road and made advances which she resisted. Then, she told the officers, he dragged her from the car, knocked off her glasses, ripped her clothing and attacked her.

Bit Of Barter

ALTON, Ill. (AP) — Melvin Paschea of Granite City, Ill., believes in doing things the old fashioned way.

He traded his old car — and 192 hogs — for a new automobile.

The salesman who handled the deal then peddled the hogs.

Tongue Gets Stuck

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Carol Hudson, 7, took a long drink from her cousin's Scout canteen. Then she found her tongue was caught in it.

Her mother called firemen, who called the Charlotte lifesaving crew. After an hour of gentle puiling, the men cut the canteen from her tongue.

"I feel fine," said Carol, showing a swollen tongue.

State Again Seeks Life Of Indian Slayer

The state is making another try at taking the life of Rayna Tom Carmen, 48, a convicted murderer who has been in San Quentin Prison's Death Row since 1951.

Carmen, a Mono Indian, was convicted in June, 1950, of murdering Wilbur Dan McSwain, a member of the same tribe, after a dance hall dispute at North Fork.

The state yesterday asked the U.S. Court of Appeals in San Francisco to reinstate Carmen's death sentence. The sentence, ordered in Madera Superior Court, was invalidated last September by Federal Judge Louis Goodman.

Goodman ruled the state did not have jurisdiction over the killing because it involved an Indian killing an Indian on Indian land.

In the appeal filed by the state attorney general's office, California claims the state has jurisdiction over Carmen because " . . . he was subject to no restrictions on account of his race—legal or otherwise. He was thus emancipated" and subject to the same laws as other Californians.

STATE ROAD TOLL DIPS, BUT STILL HIGH

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Traffic deaths in California decreased sharply last month, but the total for the year is still higher than for the same period in 1958.

The Highway Patrol reported 274 highway fatalities during July, a drop of 36 from July, 1958.

Bradford Crittenden, CHP commissioner, cited the figures as evidence that careful drivers and tough law enforcement can cut the death rate.

Kiewert Receives 5 Years Probation

Charles L. Kiewert of Corte Madera, former real estate man, yesterday was given five years probation on charges of forgery during his employment for the Lakeside Development Co.

He was not given a suspended sentence of one year in the county jail, as incorrectly reported in the Independent-Journal yesterday.

Belvedere Councilmen Pass Curfew Ordinance

Belvedere residents under the age of 18 must be home by 11 p.m. or else be prepared to give a legitimate business reason for being on the streets after that hour, under terms of a curfew ordinance passed at last night's Belvedere City Council meeting.

The ordinance passed unanimously.

The council voted to employ City Engineer Albert H. Siemer to make a survey and recommend to the city improvements needed for adequate fire protection on Belvedere Island.

The council authorized Councilman Ida Scott to select a paid person to answer the fire phone from 5 p.m. to 8 a.m. on week days as well as Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

Requests by the Eucalyptus Road Improvement Assn. and Crest road property owners that the city assume maintenance of those streets were tabled.

The council made the following appointments:

Health Officer, Dr. Donovan O. Cooke; finance and insurance committee representative, Councilman E. G. (Ned) Weed; Tiburon Peninsula Coordinating Council delegate, Councilman Charles M. Yates; council representative to the Marin County Liaison Committee of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, Councilman Weed.

Tabled until the next meeting was decision on the Marin County Health Department fee schedule. July warrants totaling $5,460.39 were approved.

The meeting was adjourned in memory of city employee Mrs. Sue Benkert, who died last week.

Kentfield Rider Wins Trophy For Third Time

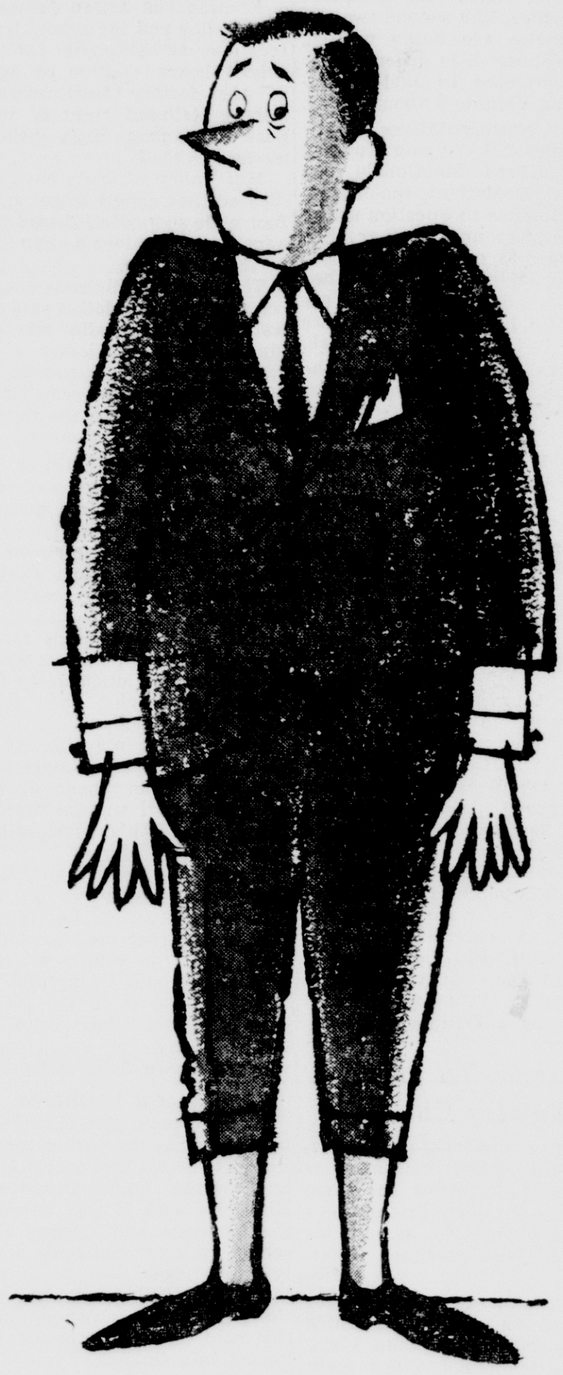

Crissie Burns, 16-year-old Kentfield equestrienne, won the Charles J. Broad Challenge Trophy for keeps Sunday.

For the third successive year, Miss Burns won the trophy, donor of which is a Ross resident, on her five-gaited mare, Foreign Land, at the California Horse Show Exhibitors show at Stanford University. The three wins give her permanent possession of the trophy.

She also won the three-gaited youth stakes on Crown Jewel.

Planners Add New Apartment Rules

The Marin County Planning Commission took its first step yesterday afternoon toward formulating amendments to the multiple residence ordinance.

The planners passed by a 4-1 vote (Chairman Dr. William D. Upton dissenting on a matter of detail for the record) a resolution to add extra regulations on development of land at the rate of one apartment unit per 1,000 feet; preserving the principle of one parking space per unit in this category, and limiting land coverage in this size to 80 per cent.

This last, it was explained, means that 20 per cent must be kept free for landscaping.

The planning staff was instructed to prepare proposals for consideration Aug. 17 on zoning for units of 1,500 square fot and 2,000 square foot dimensions and larger, per apartment.

The builders' ideas prevailed on the matter of low limit of 1,000 square feet. Upton dissented because he would have preferred to start at 1,250 square feet.

Commissioner Margaret Azevedo wrote that reflection since the July 27 special meeting had caused her to see merits in some arguments made of the apartment builders. She said she hoped her fellow-members could agree on the proposition of reserving 20 per cent of the land area for landscaping for "it pays big dividends in atmosphere."

Like an uneasy Greew chorus in the background, several builders sat in the rear of the chamber, sighed, shuffled, and occasionally rose to make somewhat disheartened or disapproving remarks about the general course of the proceedings.

He wasn't really against planning, one commented, but he hoped the net outcome would let him develop his land as he wanted to.

"We would favor considering adjustment for existing presently zoned properties," said chairman Upton, while making clear that this didn't amount to any iron-clad guarantee that such adjustment would be granted.

There were repeated queries as to just what was the meaning of the action currently being taken and everybody gave the impression of peering through a sort of verbal smog-screen.

Hilary Drive To Receive New Name

Tiburon's Hilary drive will become Tenaya drive by decision of the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday afternoon.

This was an initial victory in the commission's effort to avoid duplication of street names within the county, on the ground that we're one big family likely someday to become one big city.

The name "Tioga," previously submitted, was rejected when David Van Pelt of the commission staff pointed out that this name was already being used in North Marin.

Van Pelt, the planners and the principle involved were commended in a letter from a woman with a problem.

The letter, read before the commissioners, was from Mrs. James W. Libby of 118 Reed boulevard in Strawberry Heights. She explained that "across the highway a 118 Reed street is situated" and went on:

"For the past seven years our mail, parcel post deliveries and guests have been confused. It is not only troublesome, inconvenient and nerve-racking, but unnecessary."

Mrs. Lebby wrote she agrees wholeheartedly with Van Pelt "who firmly endorsed the policy of a permanent law stating 'no street names shall be repeated within the county.'"

McGill Quits Fire Board At Tiburon

The Tiburon Fire Protection District Commission last night accepted the resignation of commissioner Howard I. McGill, effective immediately, and called for anyone interested in serving as a commissioner to "declare their intentions to the board" by the next meeting, Sept. 9.

The commission approved the application of commissioner Paul C. Hantzsche as a volunteer fireman. Along with commissioner Fred C. Hannahs, he will serve without volunteer fireman's pay to avoid any conflict of interest, presiding vice chairman Hannahs said.

The commission voted to purchase $401 worth of fire equipment and to buy $955 worth of "turnout clothes" for 17 volunteers. It was decided to pay volunteers in June and December instead of monthly warrants totaling $1,686.42 were approved.

Kistler Gets Work Furlough Arrangement

Former San Rafael newsstand operator Donald D. Kistler Jr., 34, convicted of exhibiting and selling lewd films and photographs, yesterday was granted his request for a work furlough arrangement while serving his jail sentence.

Kistler, sentenced last October, started serving time this month. The sentence had been held up while he made and lost an appeal in the appellate division of superior court. Meantime, he found work in San Jose.

He was sentenced to serve 90 days, or 45 days and pay a $375 fine.

He was told yesterday by Municipal Court Judge Harold J. Haley that he must now serve an additional 10 days. The judge said that the payment on the fine should be made soon in a "substantial amount." He said Kistler must appear in court again Aug. 31 for a report as to the degree he has paid his fine. He also is on three years probation.

Weissich agreed to review films confiscated from Kistler, destroy those that he considers obscene, and return the remainder to Kistler.

Alto Meeting Canceled

2 Events In Recent Weeks Are Harbingers Of Peace

Two things happened on the national scene in recent weeks which gave us a glow of pleasant anticipation. Neither of them were political, but both have international significance.

First was the launching of the N. S. Savannah. Perhaps the N. S. preceding that name seems unfamiliar to you. It won't in a few years. N. S. stands for nuclear ship. The Savannah is the world's first nuclear powered merchant ship.

Notice, too, those words "merchant ship." This is not a vessel of war, it is not designed for destruction. It is a ship built to sail the Seven Seas with cargos of peace. It will be able to streak across the oceans carrying the word that the United States is NOT devoting all of its know-how to war. It will carry goods and ideas from a free nation to people in less fortunate circumstances.

The second event was the wide publicity, particularly in Life magazine, given to a proposal that a second Great White Fleet be sent on a mission of mercy.

A Navy commander suggested that a small fleet of mothballed hospital ships, an out-dated aircraft carrier and supply ships sail the waters of the world, fighting disease and hunger, helping the distressed and uneducated in backward countries and assisting in time of catastrophe anywhere.

He could picture the great white ships, unarmed and assisting only when requested, flying the American flag for the whole world to see us helping others with no thought of personal gain. The carrier would be carrying rescue planes and helicopters, not fighters and bombers.

This is an inspiring suggestion, one which we should make a reality. We know we have the ships, they're in moth balls all over the place. We know we have both the manpower and the resources to undertake such a project. Surely we can earmark a few millions from our multi-billion dollar budget for such a project. So let's do it.

As we said, we got a warm glow from these two events. A nuclear ship to show we are making peaceful use of our atomic knowledge, and a fleet of mercy to show we haven't forgotten the unfortunates of the world. Think what they could mean to the cause of peace.

NATO: Just How Much Of A Bulwark Is It?

By BEM PRICE

PARIS (AP) — For 10 years now the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has been looked upon as the sword and shield of Europe.

NATO's defensive shield consists of ground troops with the task of stemming any Soviet attempt to overrun Europe quickly.

The sword is the retaliatory striking power of the West—nuclear or thermonuclear bombs delivered against the Soviet Union by manned aircraft or missiles.

U. S. Gen. Lauris Norstad, NATO's present military chief once emphasized Europe's need for a strong defensive shield by observing that unless an aggression was soon halted, the Allies would be faced with the impossible task of separating the invaders from the invaded as targets for nuclear weapons.

At the moment, the shield appears thin and the sword, while still sharp, is losing some of its edge compared with the powerful and increasingly modern Communist forces arrayed against it.

A reporter's tour of NATO commands indicates that as matters now stand the Allies possibly could muster 250,000 men on the ground next to the Iron Curtain though not all would be mobile forces equipped with up-to-date arms.

The immediately available air cover for central Europe now consists of somewhere between 1,500 and 2,000 net aircraft of all types.

The Allies also have a classified but apparently limited, missile counter-punch, mostly in the short range category.

This Allied force confronts a Soviet bloc in central Europe which Western sources say has 1½ million men close to the borders of the free world and a 23,000-all-jet air force, most of which is concentrated in the western Soviet Union and the satellites.

In addition, the Soviets are said to be building large numbers of missile launching sites for their 700-mile range M103 missiles and their 1,500-mile T2 intermediate range missiles in the satellite areas west of the U.S.S.R.

Although written into existence April 4, 1949, as a military organization, NATO really began Jan. 7, 1951, with the arrival of Dwight D. Eisenhower, then a five-star general, to assume command of Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers, Europe (SHAPE). The organziation's assignment: to safeguard the freedom, common heritage and civilization of the signatory nations.

Upon his first inspection tour Eisenhower found only seven skinny divisions and an air force of about 400 planes, mostly piston-engine types.

But hopes were high.

In November 1951, the French turned up at a NATO meeting in Rome happily pushing proposals for an international army.

Under the French plans all national forces would be organized into standard size divisions — 13,000 men — and everyone would have a standard pay and but one uniform.

OPTIMISM RAN high at the Rome meeting. The NATO Council even set itself a goal of 100 battle fit divisions in Europe by the end of 1954. It was claimed at the end of 1951 that NATO had 23 combat-ready divisions at hand.

A bare five months later—May 1952 — found SHAPE officers, now commanded by Gen. Alfred Guenther, grumbling about the withdrawal of a French division from the shield forces to fight rebels in Algeria.

At that time Guenther had 15 divisions assigned to NATO and based in Germany — five each from France, the United Kingdom and the United States. Somehow those other eight divisions had not materialized.

What disturbed SHAPE was not so much the withdrawal of the French division, but the precedent set in weakening the shield, in subordinating NATO interests to national interests.

FRANCE IN 1952 had 100,000 men committed to the suppression of the Algerian revolt. Now France has 650,000 men in Algeria and the fighting continues.

Meanwhile, the technology of warfare was undergoing a steady evolution. The age of the battle-field rocket had arrived. Each can carry atomic warheads.

In the dawning age of atom-toting missiles and rockets, the need for armies to increase their mobility and dispersion likewise increased. The day of the foot soldier, fighting in mass, was ending.

On June 6, 1959, Gen. Norstad said the Allies greatest danger might spring from weaknesses "which would invite Soviet exploitation."

NORSTAD TOLD a long meeting that the weakness of NATO might start a Soviet probing operation "which might well get out of hand."

Norstad went to Washington last Spring to report on NATO's military posture to the U.S. Congress. He said the 21⅓ divisions now assigned to NATO were not enough, that he needed a minimum of 30 divisions equipped with atomic weapons and more missiles.

WHEN NATO WAS born, the aircraft detection radar operated 40 hours a week. Now the radar network scans the Iron Curtain around the clock. It still has a short range reaching only to the Soviet border. But gaps in the network have been plugged.

Once it took SHAPE commanders eight hours to reach a subordinate command. Now a radio and telephone system provides immediate contact.

A spiderweb of supply dumps containing a 90-day stockpile of combat needs has come into being. About 2,000 miles of projected 3,600 mile gas and oil pipeline now exists.

All these developments, however urgently needed, do not in themselves defend central Europe, which is the heart of NATO.

DRUMMOND

Ike Inviting Reporters In For Dinner Talks

President Eisenhower is beginning a venturesome and unprecedented departure in White House press relations.

What he is undertaking — and no President has ever done this before — is to make himself available for three hours and a half of dinner and post-dinner conversation to a substantial cross-section of Washington correspondents.

With two such dinner evenings already held, others are in prospect.

EISENHOWER's purpose is not to add a concealed press conference to Washington's too few open press conferences. His purpose is not to bring about a periodical rainstorm of inspired spot-news stories or to pressure reporters to write what they have learned with veiled attribution.

The objective which the President has in mind is two-fold:

To enable those who report and interpret the news through all media to have a kind of full, three-dimensional access to the President's own thinking, to his insight and information in a way which cannot possibly be achieved in short, Q-and-A press conferences.

To engage — and this is Mr. Eisenhower's stated wish — to some degree in a candid exchange of ideas so that the conversation is not entirely one way. This isn't easy. All of us want to hear the President more than hear ourselves — or at least each other! But if there is any group likely to express their opinions under such circumstances, it is probably the newspapermen.

OBVIOUSLY THERE are all kinds of pitfalls in this unusual undertaking. The President runs the risk of having his thinking inaccurately or unfairly expounded. Since he can't possibly invite everybody, some may be offended so greatly that they will take it out on him in print. Since practically no topic is barred from such an intimate evening a President risks indiscretion.

Eisenhower is quite aware of the dangers. But he likes the idea, thinks it can be beneficial to both sides — the press and the White House — and he is prepared to take the risks. This may be one of the unexpected advantages of not being able to run for a third term — a President isn't concered with the possibility of being politically injured.

That Eisenhower has taken this step should not be surprising. No President has done more — few have done as much — to make his press conference an open window on the White House.

HUNGER AMIDST PLENTY

One of the teachers and the school nurse came up with the idea that their pupils might be hungry.

More than half were either poor eaters or else had barely enough food to get by on. A few of the students ate no breakfast at all.

Undernourishment in the midst of plenty should prod all of us to sit up and take notice of both the material and spiritual well-being of others.

Despite the spiritual advantages available to all, many, both young and old, are suffering from hunger of soul as well.

It is up to those who have an abundance to reach out and share their blessings with others.

"As every man hath received grace, ministering the same one to another: as good stewards of the manifold grace of God." (1 Peter 4:10)

Let me be Your instrument, O Lord, in helping those who are hungry in body or soul.

Pretty, Talented Opera Star Has Big Problem: Finding Right Guy

NEW YORK (AP) — "Young men today are impossible," said Elaine Malbin, the tiny spitfire of opera.

Miss Malbin has a problem.

She is young and pretty and as vibrantly alive as a violin string. She has smoldering eyes the color of autumn leaves.

She has one of the best lyric soprano voices in the land. She makes up to $75,000 a year.

But she has a problem. It is the same problem faced by millions of other career women her age—finding the right guy.

The public never thinks the feminine stars of the entertainment world have many dating woes. But they do. They have plenty.

The very gifts that make them famous turn out in a way to be a reverse curse. They scare away many men.

"That's part of my trouble," said Elaine ruefully.

"Of course, it's partly my fault too. I'm afraid I can't be attracted to just an ordinary guy. I hesitate to date a man who isn't interesting. And to me the interesting men are those I feel are above me mentally, or who have achieved more."

"Young men are too glib," she said. "They are glib about things they know nothing about—such as work. I have worked too long and too hard myself to care for glibness. I like older men because they appreciate you more, but the best ones are already taken."

Why not fall in love with someone in her own field? Miss Malbin shook her midnight mane vehemently.

"I don't find American male opera stars very sexy," she said flatly.

"I prefer businessmen and writers."

Brooklyn-born Miss Malbin started singing at 11, made her debut here at the age of 14. She wearies sometimes of the exacting discipline of opera, particularly since she said it is financially far less rewarding than television or the supper club circuit.

SHE STILL practices three hours every day.

"But the hardest thing to me is that I have to live in accord with the demands of my vocal art," she said.

"It means I can't talk as much as I want to; smoke at all; or stay up late at night.

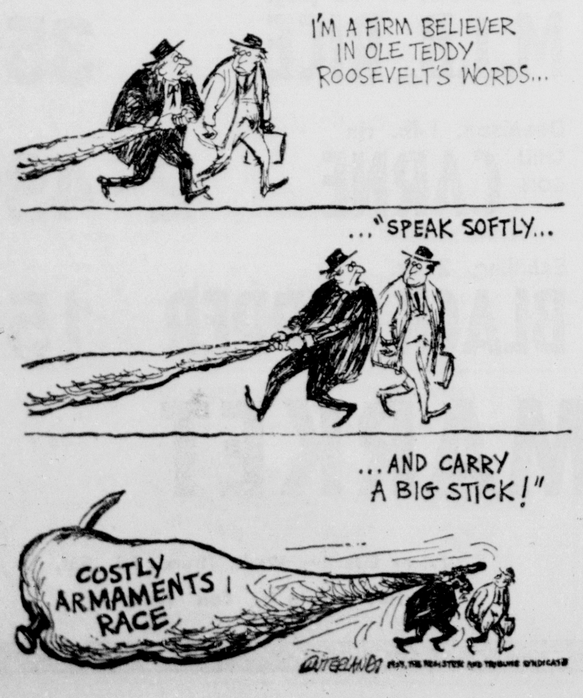

"I've worked very hard and long. I've worked and watched the world go by. Now I feel I want to see more of the world — and watch the work go by.

"I NEVER regret what I've done, and I don't want to live to regret what I have not done. I'm very stormy, and I guess I like stormy people who are tremendous workers."

She paused, brooding. Asked if there was anything else she wanted to say, the little girl with the big fine voice smiled and said:

"Help!"

This Shaggy Dog Knew What To Say When Called To The Telephone

Plenty of shaggy dog stories make the rounds every year, most of them the products of original thinkers possessing a degree of wit and imagination. Recently we heard one that originated right here in Marin, and in this case it happened to be true.

Seems that Don Howe of San Rafael agreed to act as caretaker of a Kent Woodlands house while the owners were away. The job also involved care of their brown dog, a hulking creature answering to Old Kent and resembling Little Orphan Annie's Sandy.

"Sir," the airman began politely, "we have a big dog up here, and I believe it might be yours."

"Well," said the skeptical Howe, "I don't know about that. But put the dog on the phone."

The airman complied.

"Kent, is that you?" said Howe to the dog. "Old Kent, are you there?"

"WOOF!" came the booming reply. "WOOF! WOOF!"

"Sir, I guess it's your dog, all right," the airman said after nudging the animal away from the phone.

Later in the day, Old Kent was brought down the mountain in an Air Force vehicle and returned to his Kent Woodlands home.

SPEAKING OF dogs, 100 of them were vaccinated against rabies last week at a two-hour clinic held on the grounds of Davidson School in San Rafael.

At the end of the first hour, two small boys on bikes approached the school. One of them shot a sidelong glance toward the canine clinic, looked puzzled for a second, then told his companion, "It must have something to do with dogs."

OVERHEARD, ONE I-J newspaper boy to another I-J newspaper boy:

"Every time I hear someone say I-J carriers, I begin to think we've got some kind of disease."

THE CAR STICKER fad has moved into the realm of international politics. We saw a big one on a car in Larkspur the other day. It's message (in brilliant orange letters on a black background):

"Stop Khrushchev."

A GROUP OF Belvedere residents is up in arms about a luxury home project proposed for the western shores of Belvedere Island. The homes on pilings would cost 100,000 clams apiece, but this doesn't impress the project's detractors, who predict it will be a "cannery row."

We can see it now—a string of $100,000 canneries well stocked with canned caviar, canned martinis and canned music (soft and romantic, of course).

At a cocktail party, Cartoonist Charles Addams could find nothing with which to stir a highball, and resorted to using his finger. "You shouldn't do that," reproved Roos. "You don't know who's been drinking out of that glass!"

Another time, Roos' wife looked out of the window one miserable winter morning and reported, "It's gray, dismal, and forty." "Well," grumbled Roos as he turned over to go back to sleep, "who isn't?"

City Must Pay For County Access

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Judging by street conditions in and around San Anselmo, Marin County is more malodorous than marvelous. At least 25,000 people are forced to use Drake Boulevard to get from their homes to Highway 101, and passage through San Anselmo, the largest city on Drake, is the most nerve shattering of all. In almost a year of residence I have yet to see street repair equipment in action.

Residents of Butterfield Road before it reaches Sleepy Hollow which is beyond San Anselmo City limits have every reason to complain. On July 23 and 24, large double gravel trucks used Butterfield at about five minute intervals, raising clouds of dust and thundering vibrations that shook the hillside houses. Butterfield was a miserable street before, and now it is a nightmare of roughness. In San Anselmo, not Sleepy Hollow.

My question is: why should the only access to a county community have to be maintained by the city tax-payers of San Anselmo? I have written letters to San Anselmo's city manager and to the Marin County Board of Supervisors protesting the misuse and bad condition of Butterfield Road, neither of which has thus far been answered.

I will welcome all suggestions.

Corte Madera Rejects Road Project At Budget Hearing

A petition for widening and paving the 400 block of Corte Madera's Oakdale avenue was denied last night by the town council at a public hearing on the proposed 1959-60 town budget of $308,389.

Reached without a vote, the informal decision was accompanied by a wait-til-next-year promise and renewed assurance that Corte Madera's tax rate will drop 15 cents if the budget stands.

Aside from the Oakdale petition, signed by 17 persons, there were no requests for changes in the spending program tentatively approved by the council last week.

Scheduled for council adoption Aug. 15 are resolutions adopting the final budget and fixing the tax rate and an ordinance establishing the amount of revenue to be raised by property taxes.

The predicted tax rate is $1.33 per $100 assessed valuation. Last year's rate was $1.48.

Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow told the Oakdale avenue delegation their improvement project was postponed one year by the council in a "very practical" action.

He said the change from his recommended budget was one of a number permitting the council to lower the tax rate, "which of course is important to all of us."

Town street crews, Brandow added, have so many projects ahead of them it is unlikely they could get around to the Oakdale work anyway.

Mayor Roger F. Morse said the budget includes funds for engineering surveys of Oakdale and other streets slated for future development.

COURT PROCEEDINGS

Corte Madera Acts Against Illegal Signs

After 17 months of indecision, the Corte Madera Town Council voted 3-2 last night to crack down on restaurateur Bob Campbell for advertising Bob's of Marin with non-conforming signs.

Town Atty. John B. Ehlen was directed to start court proceedings against Campbell for abatement of the signs. And to make sure he knows what's coming, the council decided to send Campbell an excerpt of last night's minutes by registered mail.

The motion was made by Councilman William R. Hansen, who found allies in Mayor Roger F. Morse and Councilman Edward W. Colthurst. The dissenters, Walter S. Long and Albert E. Kogler, argued for a delay until after next Monday's meeting of the town planning commission.

The sign question was raised by Chairman John Adlard of the planning commission. He said it was his understanding the council had set yesterday as the target date for "punitive action" against owners of signs that are non-conforming.

Last month, Adlard reported, the commission approved the design and location of new Edgewater Inn signs proposed for replacement of existing illegal ones. But at the same meeting, he said, the planners withheld approval of a new sign for Bob's of Marin because no location was indicated. The restaurant is a lessee at the Edgewater.

Hansen and Colthurst said the decision to prosecute Campbell can be rescinded if, at Monday's commission meeting, he offers a suitable location for a sign that complies with the zoning ordinance.

But Hansen was not optimistic. He said he thinks "there is no more intention (by Campbell) to comply now than there was 17 months ago."

Love Which Led To Killing Cools Off

WEST COVINA (AP)—The romance which led to the fatal shooting of socialite Barbara Finch appears to be disintegrating.

Pretty Carole Tregoff, the other woman in a domestic drama climaxed by death, told newsmen last night she no longer loves Dr. Bernard Finch.

Miss Tregoff, 22, a shapely ex-model, and Dr. Finch, 41, a wealthy surgeon, are accused of murdering the doctor's 33-year-old wife last July 18. Last Wednesday, Miss Tregoff admittee at Dr. Finch's preliminary hearing that she loved the surgeon and had had intimacies with him.

She laughed repeatedly when interviewed in jail last night but when asked if she still loved Dr. Finch, her smile turned into a sneer.

Did the sneer mean she no longer loved him?

"I guess so," she replied.

Novato Center May Add Land

An additional 2.16 acres may be added to Novato's Nave Shopping Center for parking and other purposes as result of decision by the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday afternoon.

After long discussion, presentation of petitions from 98 neighbors who endorsed the addition, and assurance that this change would "fill out" the center to appropriate size and shape with no further change to be asked, the commission decided on reclassification of the 2.16 acres from limited agricultural to retail commercial.

The land is near Center road and South Novato boulevard.

Kentfield Sets School Budget Of $578,118

Kentfield School District trustees approved a 1959-60 budget of $578,118 last night after an official public hearing at which no member of the public offered an opinion or asked a question.

The public, however, took part in earlier budget discussions.

The four trustees present (board president Rachel Conner was absent) received four fire insurance proposals and postponed action until their Aug. 17 meeting to allow time for study.

The trustees set Aug. 26 for bid opening on a one-room addition to the A. E. Kent School administration office after plans were presented by Peter Skaer of Corlett and Spackman, San Francisco architectural firm.

Skaer reported that negotiations were continuing with E. A. Forde Co. over what appears to be less fill delivered at the Wolfe Grade School site than was contracted for.

Novato Youth Still Missing From Home

Troy Cassidy, 15, who ran away from his home at 1542 Buchanan street, Novato, still has not been located, the Marin sheriff's office said today.

BANK TO GIVE OUT CIGARETTE TAX STAMPS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Bank of America will distribute California's new black and orange cigarette tax stamps.

The state signed a contract with the bank yesterday under which the state agrees to pay up to $30,000 a year for storage, sale and bookkeeping on the stamps.

The bank will credit the sale price — three cents apiece less about 2 per cent —to the state's account. The dealer gets the 2 per cent discount for putting the stamps on the cigarettes.

The stamps are about half the size of the familiar federal tax stamp. They'll start appearing on the bottom of cigarette packages about Aug. 20 and must be there after Sept. 1.

Dairy scientists say full milk production can best be achieved at temperatures of 10 to 75 degrees for Holstein cows and 32 to 75 degrees for Jerseys. At 80 degrees, they say, a dairy cow's milk output will generally drop an average of 10 per cent.

Supreme Court Justice Shenk Dies At 84

He was in Palo Alto Hospital after suffering a heart attack Saturday at his Twain Harte summer home in the Sierra Nevada near Sonora.

Justice Shenk was the target of a futile recall movement in 1948 when the court ruled the "Ham 'n' egg" pension initiative off the ballot. Civic leaders, jurists and lawyers rallied to his defense.

Former Gov. Friend Richardson appointed Shenk to the state's high court in 1924 after 11 years on the Superior Court bench in Los Angeles.

Shenk was prominent in Republican circles and a member of the Judicial Council of California from its creation in 1926.

Surviving are his wife, Lena Elinor of Los Altos, and two sons.

In the past 20 years, the number of Americans living on the farm has dwindled from 31,000,000 to 21,000,000.

DOUBLE LIFE ENDED

Slain Man Was Financier By Day; Robber At Night

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Grand-scale business promoter by day, robber, posing as a policeman, by night.

That's the double life police say was lived by Daniel M. Snyder, ex-Marine, art lover and man about town.

His honest path by day and dishonest path by night came to light after police had shot him to death during a drug-store holdup attempt Sunday night.

Officers said Snyder, 40, who wore elevator shoes to increase his 5-foot-7 stature, called himself Police Sgt. Cain L. Wood and carried a detective sergeant's badge that was a remarkably accurate duplicate of the real thing. He held up two markets and got away with $38,000.

By day he moved in high financial circles and was regarded as a shrewd investor with apparently unlimited income. He had no criminal record.

Giants Face Acid Test

Redhot Braves Invade S.F. For 3-Game Series

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — League-leading San Francisco, bolstered by rookie Willie McCovey, gets the acid test tonight as the Giants open a three-game series with the Milwaukee Braves.

The Giants lead Los Angeles by only half a game and the Braves are just another half-game behind the Dodgers.

It was just a year ago that the Giants, one game behind the Braves in another National League spine-tingler, moved into Milwaukee for a four-game series. The Braves swept the set, dropping the Giants five games behind. The San Franciscans never threatened again.

Last year the Giants, finishing 12 games behind Milwaukee, beat the Braves only six times in 22 games. This year San Francisco has won five of 14 encounters.

It'll be a battle of left-handers tonight. Giants Manager Bill Rigney will send his young Mike McCormick (10-8) against the Braves' veteran Warren Spahn (14-10).

McCormick 20, was the pitcher who straightened the Giants out after their two latest losing streaks. He stopped the St. Louis Cardinals with six hits July 22 after the Giants lost three straight. Then, after San Francisco lost four in a row, Mike threw a seven-hitter at Philadelphia to win 7-2. McCormick has pitched against the Braves three times this year and is 1-1 against them.

Spahn is tough all the time, especially against San Francisco. He has beaten the Giants three times this year, all complete games, and hasn't lost to them.

The Braves, straightened out again after their longest losing streak since 1953, have now won eight of their last 10 games. The Giants, thanks mostly to their lanky new first baseman, McCovey, are on a four-game winning streak.

GETTING BACK THE HARD WAY —Mickey Mantle of the American League gets a mouthful of dirt as he dives back to first on an attempted pickoff play in the second inning of yesterday's all-star game in Los Angeles. Stan Musial, the great Cardinal playing first for the Nationals, has just taken the throw. Mantle was safe, but was out a moment later trying to steal second. Umpire is Charlie Berry. (AP Wirephoto)

A. L. Stars Square Accounts With Rivals As Berra Stars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The count stood all square at one apiece for the 1959 All-Star classics between the American and National League today. And back to the formal pennant races went the ballplayers.

Manager Casey Stengel's American Leaguers pinned a 5-3 defeat on Fred Haney's Nationals as a paid attendance of 54,982, fourth highest in the game's history, sat through the game in sun-baked Memorial Coliseum yesterday.

LOSS AVENGED

The victory avenged a 5-4 setback absorbed by the Stengel men in the first All-Star game July 7 at Pittsburgh.

Individual honors went to catcher Yogi Berra of the Yankees, whose two-run blast off Dodger pitcher Don Drysdale put the Americans in front, 3-1, in the third inning for a lead they never relinquished.

Oddly enough, this was Yogi's 11th All-Star appearance but the first time he had hit for extra bases.

SLUGGERS THROTTLED

Collective honors went to the American League pitchers who throttled such sluggers as Hank Aaron, Ernie Banks, and Willie Mays.

The winning pitcher was Jerry Walker of Baltimore, 20, who just a year ago was laboring for Knoxville, Tenn., in the Class A Sally League.

Walker, inserted into the squad the afternoon before, yielded but one run and two hits in the three innings he worked.

The loser was strikeout artist Don Drysdale of the Dodgers who gave up homers to Frank Malzone of the Red Sox and Berra.

"This was a great day for the Italians," said Yogi, referring to the home run by Rocky Colavito of Cleveland in the eighth inning and Malzone's four bagger.

Happy Casey Praises All His Players

Casey Stengel was doing the talking after his American Leaguers knocked off the National League 5-3 yesterday.

Lounging against a rubbing table in the dressing room, Stengel shouted over the knot of sports writers clustered around him:

"Everyone had a part in it. Any man I didn't use, I want to apologize to. I couldn't use everybody."

Yankee Yogi Berra, who hit a two-run homer far over the 333-foot right field barrier, said the Coliseum's 250-foot left field fence didn't help him any.

But Frank Malzone of the Red Sox, who dropped a home run just over the left field screen, said with a laugh: "Hitting a home run here was a lot easier than I thought it would be."

In the National League dressing room, Manager Fred Haney said quietly:

"It was a good game. We just got beat, that's all. We had a couple of chances to score and we missed."

Folley Faces King Tonight In Sacramento

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Heavyweight boxers Zora Folley and Howard King meet tonight in a bout Folley hopes to use as a springboard to a championship match.

Folley, the No. 2 contender from Phoenix, Ariz., said, "I have to handle Howard good to continue my bid for the big prize."

Said King, "I fight men like Folley every day of the week."

McCovey Off To Great Start, But Cepeda Miffed At Being Moved

CONNOLLY

It seems early yet to definitely place Willie McCovey, rookie Giant first sacker, among the greats. The kid hasn't been in big league harness long enough. But there were times, since he joined up with the S.F. club, when he acted as an entire circus, including the elephants and the pink lemonade.

McCovey seems like a ball playing type that has big league scribbled all over him. He's fast, alert, baseball wise, and while a bit strange, gives promise of developing into a real man-size prospect.

Coming to the Giants from the top minor league club may not mean a thing to the average fan, but it occurs to me that McCovey brings back the idea once stated by the late Harry Wolverton, former Yankee manager, and in his waning career a Coast League manager of note with the old Seals aggregation.

"A good minor league hitter will hit better in the major leagues than he will in the minors," Wolverton used to say. "And it is easy to understand it. In the majors the pitchers have better control and the player has better balls to hit."

NO TRUER words were uttered than those of Wolverton.

McCovey, coming up from the minors, has had to pick and chose his swats from wild flingers, pitchers who merely throw and pray. But in the majors, he gets to hit pitches properly thrown in the strike zone. And if he is a solid hitter, he should hit much better in the majors than in the minors.

Willie Kamm, once the greatest third sacker in minor league history, went to the Chicago White Sox for $125,000, a weak hitter. Yet he hit harder, better and oftener with the Sox than he ever did with the Seals.

McCovey has been suffering from an inferior complex since he joined the Giants. I saw him last spring and he looked anything but a big leaguer. That goes for hitting and fielding.

McCOVEY looked bad because he figured he had no chance of replacing Orlando Cepeda, the rookie of the year, or of crowding out Bill White who was supposed to be the next in line for the Giant first sacker's job, but who has since been traded to St. Louis.

But once the word reached McCovey that he wasn't tied to the apron strings of the Giants, and that other big league clubs were after his services, he awakened to the fact that mebbe after all he could make the Giant club.

No player ever in baseball history, that I remember, has chased an all-star slugger off first base like McCovey has done to Cepeda.

Cepeda isn't happy at third base. In fact he resents being switched there. But he has been bulldozed into the idea that he is helping himself and the ball club get into the pennant race.

ALL I CAN say for Cepeda is that he is walking away from the play boys' job in baseball to the slaves' berth. And that goes whether he plays infield or outfield.

I've talked with many players and all of them agree that Cepeda is being sold down the river by the Giants.

"The guy is plain daffy," one veteran stated. "He leaves an infield position where he has excelled to make room for a rookie who, regardless of what he does, has no right to move him off the bag.

"I wouldn't be surprised," continues my informant, "to see Cepeda walk off the diamond some afternoon and tell Manager Rigney and the owners to go places. He is the outstanding first sacker in the National League. He has been named the "Rookie of the Year" first sacker, and yet he bows to the wishes of the management when it is openly known that he is the most underpaid player on the S. F. club."

McCOVEY isn't any better first sacker than Cepeda. And he has to prove he is a better hitter. But regardless he is moved out of his favorite spot in the interest of the team.

"I'm just wondering whether Manager Bill Rigney isn't being a bit selfish in asking Cepeda to do what he has done.

If I were Cepeda I'd tell Rigney to either play me at first base or else. And if he still wanted McCovey I'd tell him to convert him into an outfielder. But I'd never move over, not for $17,500 a season.

Rosensohn Quits; Title Fight Picture Clouded

NEW YORK (AP)—There was every indication today the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight championship rematch would come off Sept. 22 as tentatively scheduled, but where it will be held and how the arrangements will be handled are in the vague category.

The two remaining directors of Rosensohn Enterprises, Inc. —Vincent Vellela and Irving Kahn—admittedly have no experience in fight promotion. Vellela says his interest primarily is in the finances. Kahn, as president of Teleprompter, Inc., is interested primarily in the ancillary rights including television, radio and movies.

This situation developed yesterday when Bill Rosensohn, president of Rosensohn Enterprises, severed all connection with the organization and said he would sell his one-third interest for $75,000 to anyone who cared to buy.

Rosensohn's resignation came as an outgrowth of a feud with Vellela which came into the open last Friday. Vellela, who holds two-thirds of the stock, elected Kahn as a third director of the enterprises. Kahn and Rosensohn have not been on the best of terms.

Rosensohn, front man and ostensibly promoter of the first fight in June in which Johansson scored a knockout in the third round, said he had offered Vellela and Kahn a chance to buy his stock, or allow him to buy Vellela's stock for $150,000.

Vellela said he would not buy or sell without first going over the company's books.

Vellela said the promotional loss on the first fight was "closer to $70,000 than the announced $40,000" and that the promotional expense was close to $300,000, a figure he termed fantastic.

In Sweden, the champion's advisor, Edwin Ahlquist, said: "We very much regret the resignation of Bill Rosensohn, and we are going to demand a full investigation into the whole business before any decision on the return match is passed."

JACK HANLEY'S REPORT

S. F. 'Must' Win 31 Of The Final 50 Games

By JACK HANLEY,
I-J Correspondent.

Seals Stadium—Scratch the Pirates and Cubs from the pennant race which now is a triangle affair with the Braves, Dodgers, and Giants on the three corners, all pointing to the flag.

From here on in, the Pirates and Cubs join the Cards, Redlegs, and Phillies in the role of spoilers.

All sorts of mathematical possibilities can be worked out for the front-running trio and soon every baseball fan will be discussing the "Magic Number."

As of today no magic number can be cited but there is a magic equation applicable to all three in the race. It is 3:5.

Assuming that 90 wins will take the top prize, the Dodgers must win 30 of their remaining 47 games, a margin of 17 losses.

On the same assumption, the Braves must win 33 of their remaining 52 games, a margin of 19 losses.

AND STILL assuming 90 will win it, the Giants must win 31 of their remaining 50 games, a margin of 19 losses.

Give a smidge here and take a shade there, the 3:5 ratio holds fairly steady for the tightly bunched trio. In other words, the final two months of the run for World Series riches will demand that the ultimate victor win three out of five games still to be played.

The current standings among the big three look this way at this hour:

	W	L	GB	Pct.
Giants	59	45	....	.567
Dodgers	60	47	½	.560
Braves	57	45	1	.559

BY MIDNIGHT these standings must be changed because the Giants and Braves meet at 8:15 p.m. at Seals Stadium while the Dodgers and Redlegs are at it in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

A year ago at this date, the Giants were kayoed by the Braves in four straight games at Milwaukee. Their hopes shaken but not completely shattered by the Redlegs in a rough series at Cincinnati that depleted their pitching strength, the Giants flew into Milwaukee half a game behind the Braves.

Now, the Braves are coming into Seals Stadium one game behind the Giants—almost the same setup but a changed locale.

THE SEQUENCE of events also is slightly changed this year. The Redlegs, who softened the Giants last year for the Brave killing, come into Seals Stadium next. It just could be that those same Redlegs might soften the Dodgers for the Brave visit to the Coliseum later in the week.

Before the week is out, one of the front-running trio might step three or four games ahead of the other two.

If that happens, the pace setter will be very tough to catch—just as it was impossible to catch the Braves last year after they irrevocably showed the Giants who was boss in that crucial four-game series at Milwaukee.

DeMAESTRI OUT OF ACTION WITH INJURIES

Shortstop Joe DeMaestri of the Kansas City Athletics has been sidelined with injuries suffered in a game against the New York Yankees last Friday, his father, Syl DeMaestri of San Anselmo, learned yesterday afternoon.

Details of the injuries were not known by the star's father, but he said, "Joe hurt his side around the ribs diving for a ground ball. He has been taped and is wearing a brace. He doesn't know how long he'll be out of action."

LI'L LEAGUE

Second Game Tonight In S. R. Playoff

Taveggia-Brusati Sports Shop hopes to wrap up the San Rafael American Little League's undisputed championship tonight in its best two-of-three game playoff series with the Cerutti Brothers team.

Sunday the T and B team scored a dramatic, come-from-behind 11-9 triumph in the series opener when Tom Untermann hit a two-out, three-run homer in the bottom of the seventh inning. The sensational blast capped a five-run rally to erase a 9-6 lead Cerutti had taken with a three-run uprising in the top of the seventh inning.

Yee Upsets Filipino Foe

OAKLAND (AP) — Ward Yee of Pasadena took an upset split decision from Dommy Ursua of the Philippines in 10 bantamweight rounds last night.

Yee weighed 117 to Ursua's 118. Each fighter hit the canvas once but Referee Jack Silver ruled they were slips and not knockdowns.

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Mike McCormick, offensive tackle and captain of the Cleveland Browns, must undergo an operation for a knee injury suffered a week ago.

'WE HAVE GOOD CHANCE'

New 49er Captain Tittle Is Confident

MORAGA (AP) — "There's only a feather's degree of difference between any clubs in the National Football League. I think we have as good a chance as anybody else."

Veteran quarterback Y. A. Tittle, newly-elected captain of the San Francisco 49ers, was voicing today the spirit of a club rebuilding under new Coach Red Hickey.

ANSWERS FORECASTERS

Hickey revealed the 32-year-old signal caller was the unanimous choice of his teammates to lead the club this year. Instead of co-captains to head offensive and defensive units as in the past, Hickey wanted just one captain.

"You can't have two men running the show as the team leaders," Hickey declared.

"Y. A. has fought his heart out. The election was proof to me the club has a lot of confidence in him."

Tittle sees "a lot of size and a lot of determination" in the rookie crop. He has worked with them for the past week, helping to run the plays.

'GOOD SHAPE'

Nicknamed "Colonel Slick" by his teammates, Tittle is entering his 12th professional football season. Since joining the pros, the former Louisiana State University star has completed 1,525 of 2,761 passes for 20,606 yards and 132 touchdowns. Last year he completed 120 of 208 attempts as the 49ers finished fourth in the NFL western conference.

Asked how long he thought he could keep playing, Y. A. declared, "I don't know. I'm just playing them one season at a time."

Hickey already has indicated his plans to shake up the team in a search for a winning combination. Two switches move big Bob St. Clair from offensive tackle to defensive end and 285-pound Frank Morze to a defensive tackle post instead of offensive center.

Hamilton '11' Opens Drills

Football practice began last week at Hamilton Air Force Base and 55 candidates showed up for the 1959 Hamilton Defender team.

Among the 55 candidates who turned out for the first practice session were such returning stalwarts as Lou Baldacci, Skip Corley, Jim Small, Rich Hammermaster, Bob McElwee, Norm Collingsworth, Dave Rentschler, Harold Wells, and Tiny Linn.

Bowl games include: Sept. 19, Oyster Bowl, South Bend Washington; Nov. 8, Pike's Peak Bowl, Colorado Springs.

Other away games include: Oct. 9, Mitchell AFB, N.Y.; Oct. 17, San Diego Marines; Oct. 24, Pensacola NAS, Florida; and Dec. 5, Fort Hood, Texas.

Khrushchev May Address U. N. During U. S. Visit

Tentative Itinerary Includes Journey To San Francisco

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev probably will address the United Nations General Assembly when he visits this country next month but there is little chance he will address Congress.

News of Khrushchev's visit brought mixed but generally favorable reaction from American leaders. The reaction from veteran Washington security men was unanimous, however — it will be a tough job guarding the leader of world communism whose barbed verbal attacks on the United States have been legion.

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov is taking a lead in working out arrangements for the Khrushchev visit.

Nothing definite has been decided on Khrushchev's trip and probably won't be for several weeks. But preliminary talks indicate the Soviet leader's itinerary probably will include:

SPEECH TO U.N.

1. Two days in New York City, including a speech to the U.N. General Assembly which convenes Sept. 15.

2. An appearance on a nationwide television broadcast, most likely a speech. This may be his talk to the U.N. Assembly.

3. A cross-country tour including visits at least to Detroit and San Francisco. This would follow the pattern set by Khrushchev's deputies, Anastas I. Mikoyan and Frol R. Kozlov, on their tours earlier this year. Khrushchev has expressed a particular desire to see San Francisco.

FOOTBALL GAME

4. Attendance at a college football game, or a baseball game if the football date cannot be arranged.

Much will depend on the Soviet premier's desires. A clearer idea of these will be available to negotiators when Vice President Richard M. Nixon returns later this week from his trip to Russia and Poland. Nixon talked with Khrushchev about the visit while he was in Moscow.

Eisenhower, in announcing Khrushchev's visit yesterday, said he would hold several informal talks with the Communist leader during his three days in Washington. Khrushchev also is expected to take some time out to see the sights of Washington.

Ike Will Keep Allies Informed On His Talks

GENEVA (AP) — The United States has assured its chief Western Allies it will inform them fully of developments in the talks between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and will consult them on any specific agreements which may be proposed.

Eisenhower, officials say, is determined not to give Khrushchev any opening for a wedge between the United States and other countries in the Western alliance.

Informed officials said the President, in his European swing before he meets Khrushchev, will assure Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, French President Charles de Gaulle and German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer that no deals will be made behind their backs.

He also wants to get their ideas about problems he and Khrushchev may take up and their suggestions for improving East-West relations.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville are reported to have agreed that, in view of their deadlock with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko over Berlin, the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks are highly desirable.

World Opinion Favors Ike-Khrushchev Visits

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The announcement of an exchange of visits between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was received with generally favorable and hopeful comment from Washington to Red China.

There was some sharp criticism in the United States, however.

The Western allies were generally pleased with the announcement, with French skepticism somewhat mitigated by the prospect of an Eisenhower visit to President Charles de Gaulle before the Khrushchev exchange.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was enthusiastic; West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, less optimistic, said he hoped the trip would show Khrushchev "the strength of the United States" and its determination to maintain peace.

The Soviet press bannerlined the story in the space usually reserved for important government or Communist Party announcements, emphasizing Eisenhower's remark that the exchange may help to "melt a little bit of the ice" that chills U. S.-Soviet relations.

Red China's official Hsin Hua agency said it was hoped the visits would "contribute to better mutual understanding between the two countries and further the cause of peace."

In the Netherlands, the Amsterdam Telegraff sounded a note of warning, saying the American tradition of free speech may lead to "anti-Communist demonstrations" and "it is difficult to predict how the Russian leader will react to these."

A sampling of U. S. man-in-the street opinion turned up comment both hostile and hopeful, and some expressed apprehension that the untrammeled American public may negate the value of the visit by insulting or throwing things at the Russian.

Ruling Party Arrests Foes In Mexico

MEXICALI, Mexico (AP)—The ruling party, announcing an unofficial sweeping victory in the Baja California's gubernatorial elections, cracked down hard on opposition leaders assertedly to ward off feared violence.

About 150 members of the minority National Action Party were reported arrested in Tijuana. Among those jailed in this capital city was Enrique Silva, party president.

He was taken into custody yesterday and held for questioning about accused slandering of public officials and the ruling party—the Party of Revolutionary Institutions.

In Tijuana Sunday night an angry crowd of about 1,000 National Action partisans gathered around a north district polling place when reports circulated that the government stole ballot boxes and was dispersed by police and federal troops' gun fire.

Unofficial figures in the voting given out by the government indicated Revolutionary Institution candidates received about 75 per cent of the votes cast.

Trial Ordered In Morals Case

Trial on charges of rape and sex perversion of Stanley Milton Trayner, 43, of 125 Richardson drive, Strawberry, has been ordered to start Sept. 15.

A four-day trial in Department 1 of Marin Superior Court was ordered yesterday by Judge Thomas F. Keating.

Trayner yesterday pleaded innocent and asked for a jury trial. He is charged with statutory rape and lewd acts involving a 14-year-old Tamalpais High School girl. He has been described as a friend of the family and a "second father" to the girl.

Five Governors Urge Fallout Defense Setup

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI) —A five-governor committee proposed to the Governors Conference today a combined federal, state and local effort to provide civilian protection against radioactive fallout as "a major contribution to peace."

The committee was headed by New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Other members of the governors committee were Govs. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, Edmund G. Brown of California and Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina, all Democrats, and J. Hugo Aronson of Montana, a Republican as is Rockefeller.

Their report called for state educations campaigns on the dangers of fallout and for federal, state and local campaigns to help individuals protect themselves against fallout by shelters and other means. It called for a conference of a governors committee with President Eisenhower and other federal officials on such programs and urged each state to set up a "protected seat of government."

FAILS TO SEE CARDINAL

Nixon Visits Warsaw Church, Ghetto Ruins

WARSAW, Poland (UPI)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon paid a surprise visit today to the Warsaw cathedral of Stephan Cardinal Wyszynski, but the Polish primate was "on vacation."

The official explanation for failure of Nixon and the cardinal to meet was given by a vice presidential spokesman, who said that Wyszynski went on vacation yesterday.

However, Nixon himself had said yesterday he had no plans to meet the cardinal, but that no request had been made on his behalf for such a meeting.

Nixon also drew big and enthusiastic audiences on visits to the ruins of the Warsaw ghetto; to Palmiry, grave of many Polish intellectuals who were exterminated by the Nazis, and to Warsaw University.

At the ghetto, where 70,000 Jews were exterminated and from which another 600,000 were hauled off to their deaths, Nixon made a moving speech.

From there he drove through the countryside to another grim reminder of Nazi terror— the Palmiry Forest, where some 2,000 Poles were wiped out in one day alone.

The vice president walked through the cemetery and paused at the grave of Janusz Kusocinski, famed Polish athlete who won the 10,000-meter Olympic championship at Los Angeles in 1932. Nixon recalled that he had seen Kusocinski win that race. Kusocinski was among the 2,000 slain by the Germans on June 21, 1940.

Nixon was virtually mobbed by several hundred people, including a number of Polish war veterans, outside the cemetery.

Standing in the grim ruins of the Warsaw ghetto, Nixon said it should stand as a reminder to mankind of the price of prejudice and war.

Nixon was visibly moved by the still-unfinished monument marking the last bunker held by the Jewish insurgents before they were crushed by the Nazis.

AN ENERGETIC GROUP of the Auxiliary to the Southern Marin Recreation Center on the Tiburon Peninsula devotes its womanly talents to sewing. Working on new, gaily striped curtains for the dressing rooms at the Center are, left to right, Mesdames Joseph Keller, J. M. Stubblebine and D. S. Williams. The next project for the women will be the making of tablecloths.

ANOTHER OF THE many features and projects of an Auxiliary is the tiny tots play morning every Thursday. A professional educator plans the sessions which includes stories such as that being read by Mrs. Donald S. Pickett. Games and crafts are also offered with the women of the Auxiliary assisting with supervision and refreshments.

SOUTHERN MARIN

Auxiliary Lends 'Woman's Touch'

By CORENA GREEN

In 1947 a group of foresighted residents of the Tiburon Peninsula took a look at a piece of property at the foot of a canyon extending back into the hills and on it they envisioned a recreation center for the use of residents of the Peninsula.

Twelve years later, following purchase of eight acres (with a a seven acre frog pond thrown in for good measure) the dream has become the Southern Marin Recreation Center with an Olympic size swimming pool, tennis court, a club house and snack bar and 465 happy participating families.

This story is about the women members who early this year took a good look around them and decided that what the Center needed was "The Woman's Touch." Sparked by board member Mrs. Stanley Peterson, a steering committee was appointed to organize an auxiliary in February. Composed of Mesdames John Del Mar, Milton Levitan, John Hoffmire, Robert Bilger, Howard McGill, Thomas E. Stanton Jr., Holbrook Bradley, Elmer Boyden, Peterson and club manager Mrs. Helen Issel, the group selected a nominating committee and drafted a purpose for the group. This was "to aid the center by raising funds to accomplish specific purposes and to purchase equipment and furnishings." Special events were also to be planned by the Auxiliary.

Nominees were chosen and at an organizational luncheon on April 3 Mrs. Levitan was elected president. To serve with her were Mesdames Del Mar, vice president; Harold Green, secretary and Joseph DeSmet, treasurer.

Chairmanned by Mrs. Lloyd Stark, one committee has taken on the job of gardening. A great deal of planting and weeding has been accomplished. One project of the committee has been beautification of the Ellen Smith Memorial Playground area, named for the wife of one of the founders Frank Smith.

Another energetic group has devoted its womanly talents to sewing. New, gaily striped curtains have been placed in the dressing rooms and next project will be the making of tablecloths to be used at the monthly luncheons. Mrs. S. W. Totten has been chairman of this committee.

A great deal of painting has been done including the lockers and the life guard tower all in keeping with a color scheme submitted by Mrs. Palmer Field, the Center's color consulant. This has been chairmanned by Mrs. Peterson.

Mrs. Ray Copper assists with the office clerical work; Mrs. Joseph Gresser the basket room staffing and Mrs. John Jansheski has taken over the staffing of the Salvage Shop to which the Recreation Center belongs.

But one of the most popular projects is the series of monthly luncheons which are planned by Mrs. Dan Williams and hospitality chairman Mrs. Joseph Keller. Different themes are selected for each affair such as gardening, interior decoration and make-up and new members of the Center are especially invited to attend.

Another popular project (for those under five years of age) is the Tiny-tots play morning every Thursday. A professional educator plans the sessions which include stories, games and crafts and women of the auxiliary assist with supervision and refreshments. Mrs. Donald Pickett is coordinator. Those not on duty may knit at the Center's knitting class or just sit and chat with their friends.

Most pressing problem for the group is the choice of a name. Originally named the LARCS (Ladies Auxiliary to the Recreation Center), this name had to be abandoned as it was learned that a group in San Francisco had been incorporated under the name of LARCS and were planning to move into Marin County. So to date the group is nameless and will be until a catchy and appropriate name can be chosen.

The Recreation Center has not yet stopped growing. A diving pool, larger building, small dining room and a remodelled kitchen are anticipated. The auxiliary is contributing to this growth by paying the fee of the Center's landscape architect for designing a plan for poolside enrichment. Included in the plan are many features such as an arbor between the two pools, shade trees and vines for beauty and an area for child care. Much of this will be accomplished by volunteer labor and to insure "the Woman's Touch" there is no doubt but what the auxiliary will be in the first row of workers.

FASHION FOCUS

'Petticoat Parade' Theme For Show

How about 1890 or 1900? Perhaps 1915 or 1925?

Whatever fashion era stands out in your memory, you'll see it come to life next Tuesday in "Petticoat Parade" when Fashion Focus, the popular Tuesday luncheon at Rickey's, presents fashions from 1884 to 1959, highlighted by the Designers Collection for the woman of 1959 from Don Loper, Pauline Trilere, Lilli Ann, etc.

The unusual Fashion Focus luncheon will honor the Marin Volunteers for their volunteer and financial assistance to the Senior Citizens Center, with the bargain shop, Trade Whims, on the ground floor of the Center a new source of revenue for the Marin Volunteers who welcome into membership Marin women interested in advancing the program for the Senior Citizens.

"Petticoat Parade" will be a special salute to the Pacific Telephone Company on its 75th anniversary. San Rafael-Marin service was established in August, 1884, with 20 subscribers to the "new-fangled gadget" listed in 1888. By 1900 a directory included some of today's well known Marin families — Kent, Dollar and Freitas.

Stepping out in costumes of early Pacific Telephone days will be attractive Pacific Telephone operators each carrying a headset or phone as it looked then. Contrasting to the eight-pound, strapped-on "harness headset" and the 1884 fashions will be the decorator-color phones of today and the 1959 Designer Collection shown for the first time by eight of Marin's most experienced and attractive models.

The Designers Collection will feature town, cocktail, ball and opera wear with furs, accessories and millinery to rest lightly on new fall hair styles created by a San Rafael coiffure studio.

Reservations for a "Petticoat Parade" are open to the public, and may be made by calling Rickey's. Luncheon is at 12:30 o'clock, with the fashions at 1 p.m.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Women take a back seat when it come to purchasing automobiles. A nationwide survey by the University of Michigan showed that most cars are bought by husbands and almost never by wives alone.

Fall Hats Run The Full Gamut

By DOROTHY ROE

Fall hats run the full gamut, from the mannish slouch felt styles immortalized by Garbo and Dietrich to fabulous and feminine concoctions for evening.

Probably the most important definite trend in the new headgear is the mannish note, seen over and over in all collections. Almost every millinery designer shows a version of the fedora, the derby and the sombrero. Some are in the traditional felt or velours, others are in unexpected fabrics such as metallic brocade, satin or velvet. The idea of wearing a casual style in a formal fabric is one that runs through all categories of fashion this fall—dresses, suits, coats and hats.

There are, of course, many fur hats shown for fall and winter, with new varieties challenging the supremacy of mink. Designer Lilly Dache makes a tall cloche of black hair seal, a pelt unusual for headgear, and trims it with pale mutation mink. Leopard, civet and all varieties of fox also go to the head this season.

There are more and more hats shown for cocktail, dinner, theater and evening wear. These go all out for elegance, employing jewels, feathers, veils, embroideries and metallic brocades, as well as fur.

Make New Hat From Dust Mop

This is the year of the wig. It comes in all versions, newest and simplest of which is the wig hat, which can be made at home with a couple of dust mops—believe it or not.

Mr. John, high-fashion milliner of New York, has designed two mop hats, just to prove it can be done.

One wig-like hat is made from two dacron mops in brilliant geranium red. The two mops are sewn together, end to end, to fit the head size, and circled with a black grosgrain ribbon. The other, in a somewhat Empress Eugenie style, is made from a pale yellow "every-which-way" nylon mop, in long mitt shape, worn with a point of mop forward. It is fastened to a ribbon-covered bicycle clip.

Designers Introduce New 'Brown' Colors

PARIS (UPI)—Greek-born Jean Desses, who has dressed such customers as Greek Orthodox nuns and Mrs. Aristotle Onassis, presented a fall collection that would please them both.

He also lengthened the torso and widened the shoulders in line with what his colleagues have done so far in the new season.

But it was an exciting enough collection to have made even the international set happy.

There was lots of interest in the skirt — the longest that Paris has seen so far this season.

Jacques Heim's collection had a long, slim easy going silhouette. Skirts were on the low-ish side—16 to 17 inches from the floor.

Italian Designers Introduce Coat With New Length

ROME (AP)—Italian designers present a new coat length for fall — the nine-tenths. Previously we have had the three-quarter and the seven-eighths lengths, but this one is a newcomer. Usually it is shown as a part of a costume, with matching skirt, the coat ending barely above the skirt hemline.

Collars and sleeves also make news in the Rome coat and suit lineup. Collars are king-size, often cut away from the neck and extending over the shoulders. Sleeves have fullness at the top, in various forms, usually a smooth, oval line giving a round look to the entire silhouette.

AUSTRALIA

Drip-Dry Woolens To Be Available

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Australian women soon will be wearing thin drip-dry woolen frocks and blouses.

The drip-dry woolens are the latest development in an intense research campaign aimed at making woolen garments as readily washable as any garment made from synthetic fibers. Wool is Australia's leading export. How much it is used determines to a great extent the nation's prosperity.

After years of research, two Melbourne firms and a government research organization have evolved processes giving wool the drip-dry qualities of nylon, dacron and other synthetics.

The firm of F. R. and O. H. Fogarty says its fabric has a ripple effect resembling that of seersucker cottons.

"Already we have had inquiries from a leading and most exclusive fashion house in the United States," it said.

Teen-Agers Active In Summer Program Marindale School

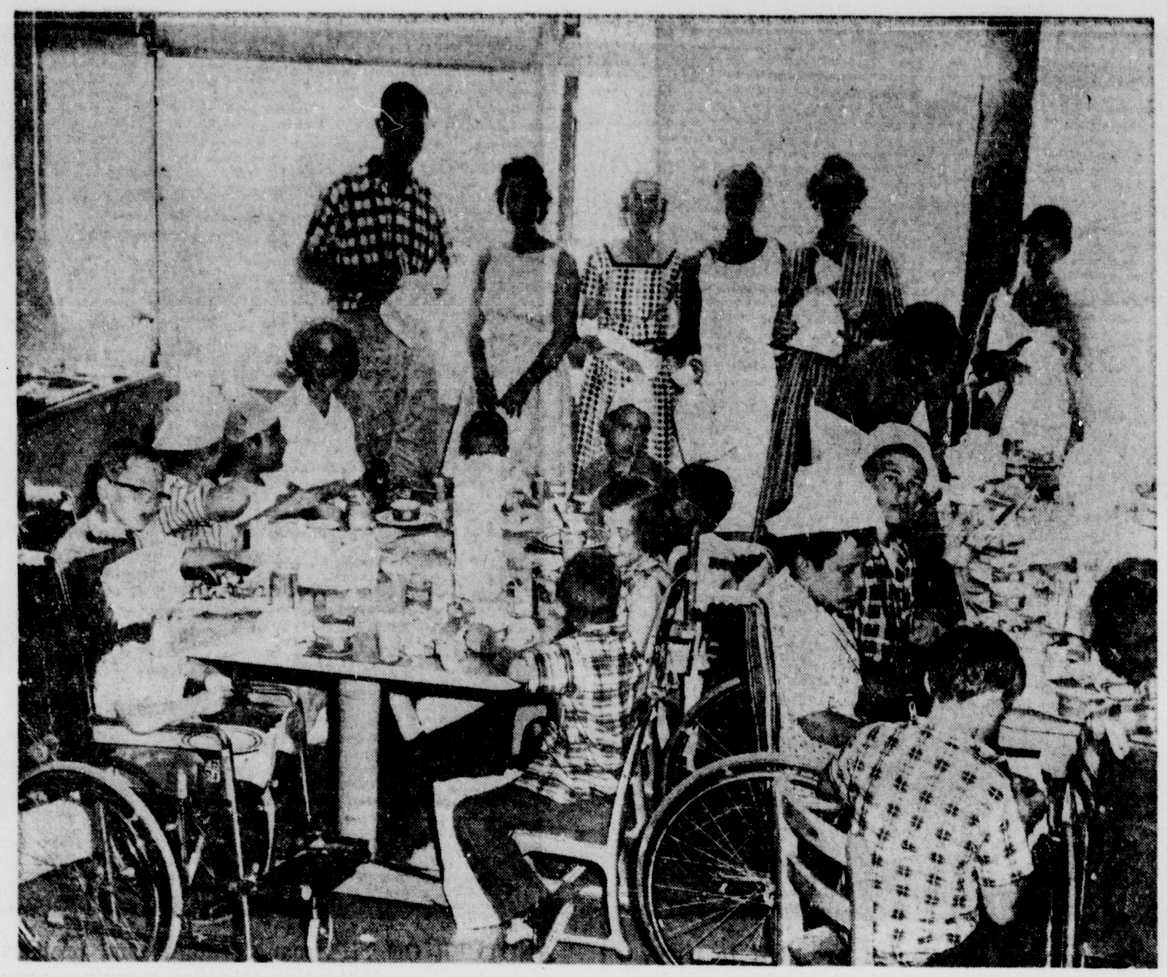

The summer recreation program for the physically handicapped takes place at Marindale School in Terra Linda on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Program consists entirely of recreational activities — cookouts, excursions, baseball games, checker tournaments, arts and crafts, and the puppet theatre for the younger children. The children vary in age from five to 15, yet there are stimulating activities for this age spread.

All of the activities are stimulated and guided by the efforts of teenage volunteers from the surrounding high schools. These volunteers donate their summer days and help make it a reality for such a program to exist. Most of these teenagers are veterans of the summer programs

Every Wednesday afternoon the children enjoy a swimming program. Swimming and Friday field trips are the most popular activities with the children. Field trips this summer have included the San Francisco Zoo, a camp cookout in Fairfax Park and a trip made possible by the Army to Ft. Baker to see the First Fleet come in through the gate and then later a visit to a Nike site.

The program success rests heavily upon the aid of volunteer drivers who bring the children in the morning and then later bring them home.

Marinita Parlor Has Installation Meeting

At a recent meeting of Marinita Parlor 198, NDGW, Mrs. Victor Frizzi was installed as president. The installing officer was Bernice Treleven of Fairfax Parlor 225. She was assisted by Mesdames Walter Price, William Kelso, Elna Roselli, Shirley Shepley and Rosalia Hurt of Fairfax Parlor.

Mesdames John Sutter, past president; Ray Shone, first vice president; Charles Samuelson, second vice president; Louis Soldavini, third vice president; Leo Schwab, marshal; Max Brice, inside sentinel; Thelma Fitzmorris, outside sentinel; William Faber, Alice Glassford and May Zappetini trustees; Soldavini, recording secretary; Victor Hedemark, financial secretary, and treasurer, Edward Tyrrell.

Mrs. Max Brice of Marinita Parlor 198 was introduced. She had been re-elected grand trustee at Grand Parlor which was recently held in Santa Cruz. Also introduced was Mrs. Frank Faustine of Seapoint Parlor 196 who is the new Supervising District Deputy of Marin County. Mrs. Evelyn Meyers of Tamalpa Parlor has been appointed the Deputy Grand President to Marinita Parlor. Mrs. Brice and Mrs. Arthur Hecht were chairmen.

At their last meeting members formulated further plans for the Admission Day Celebration, (Sept. 9), which will be held in Santa Rosa. The members planned a float and marching unit. Mrs. Louis Soldavini is chairman.

The following members have received appointments from Grand Parlor: Mrs. Victor Hedemark, Supervising District Deputy to Sonoma and part of Mendocino County; Mrs. William Faber, Deputy Grand President to Fairfax Parlor 225; Mrs. Louis Soldavini, Deputy Grand President to Seapoint Parlor 196 and Mrs. Ray Shone, vice chairman of Amercanism and patriotism.

Childrens Foundation, Mesdames Max Brice; welfare, John Sutter and May Zappettini; roll call, Georgiana Gabb and Mrs. Earl Grady; publicity and bulletin, Soldavini; Native Daughter Home, William Faber; children's Christmas party, Louis and Frank Milani; adult Christmas party, Victor Hedemark; history and landmarks, Georgiana Gabb and William Faber; funeral, Jack Fowler and Ann Andrade; Mission Soledad, Faber; card party, Hecht, Frank Milani and Jack Fowler; Guide Dogs, Georgiana Gabb; Needlework Guild, Frank Kelly; California Herald, Victor Hedemark; and war memorial at court house, Ed Tyrell.

WALLFLOWERS:

Gals Who Want Popularity Might Learn To Tell Fortunes

By DOROTHY ROE

Girls who yearn to be popular, always in demand and the life of the party might heed the advice of Betty Penson, women's editor of The Boise, Idaho, Statesman.

"Learn to tell fortunes," says Betty. "If you add a smattering of astrology and handwriting analysis, so much the better. You'll never have a dull moment."

Betty subscribed to a course in fortune-telling and palmistry a few years ago, got interested in the whole psychic subject and added astrology. Now she's the center of attention at every party, never at a loss for dinner invitations, and besieged on all sides by friends who look on her as an oracle.

LOT MORE FUN

"I wish I'd discovered this when I was a teenager," says Betty, who now has a teenage daughter of her own. "I could have had a lot more fun than I did because then I used to suffer from shyness. But a girl who can read palms and all that always has more dates than she can manage."

"No girl who can play the accordion is ever a wallflower," says Marianne. "It's a wonderful way to make friends and also, if you take it seriously, to see the world."

Someone gave Marianne an accordion when she was 12, and she became so proficient that she started giving concerts and teaching accordion classes. She has been playing in competition since 1950, when she was runner-up for the German championship. She has participated in the world championship matches since 1954, when she placed fourth. In 1955 she finished second, in competitions held in Brighton, England. This year she got her first trip to America to compete here.

No doubt Michigan picnics, hayrides and square dances will be much livelier this summer, and there certainly will be no dull moments for Marianne and her accordion.

CHAMPAGNE RECEPTION FOR NEWLYWEDS GIVEN BY FYFES

Mr. and Mrs. David B. Fyfe of San Rafael entertained recently at a champagne reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stone of San Francisco, who were married on June 30 at the Church of the Wayfarer in Carmel. Mrs. Stone, the former Isabel Collins, lived in Ross and San Rafael. A dress designer, she is the owner of a sportswear business in San Francisco. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Collins of Berkeley and sister of Frank Collins, professor of chemistry at New York College, and of Glyn Collins of London, England. The new benedict is the son of Mrs. John Tashjian of San Francisco and the late Mr. Tashjian.

Mrs. Stone wore a cream colored lace dress and white orchids were in her corsage. Mrs. Fyfe was gowned in pink lace and pink butterfly orchids were her flowers.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Mezzetta, parents of Mrs. Fyfe, Judge and Mrs. Carlos Freitas, Dr. and Mrs. Abraham Jabor, Messrs. and Mesdames J. Lee Chaille, Frank Dettner, Frank Cooley, Avery McClurg, Leo Diner, Harry Diner, Stanley C. Kerk, Paul O'Pizzi, David S. Adams, Otto Jacobsen, Jack Skinner, W. F. Hinkley, Miss Meri Jaye and Mel Gerber. The latter is a visitor here from Chicago.

American Fuchsia Society To Meet On Friday Evening

The American Fuchsia Society, Marin County Branch, will hold its regular monthly meeting on Friday, Aug. 7 at 8 p.m., at Painters' Hall, Mission at Tamalpais, San Rafael.

Mrs. Linnore Carlson, member of the Peralta branch in Berkeley will demonstrate "How To Make Fuchsia Corsages."

Guests are invited to attend the meeting.

It's Easy To Dye New Bath Decor

If you are bored with your bathroom accessories, why not give them a dye bath right in the washing machine? It's been done successfully by many women, who say that it is a cinch if directions are followed.

You can dye everything from the shag rug to the plastic shower curtain, if the curtain is vinyl and sewed. If it is glued or heat sealed do not try to dye it.

Clear or white vinyl plastics can be tinted any shade except black or navy blue. Pastels can be tinted a darker or covering color. Patterns may change color if the background is clear or light, as usually only the background will take the tint bath.

You must start with an absolutely clean article when you are doing a dye job. Stains and dirt should be removed by washing the article with soap or detergent and rinsing it thoroughly. A nail brush is helpful in removing film that sometimes collects around the bottom hem.

Fill your laundry tub or washing machine with the hottest tap water available, add your dye solution, mix well by letting the machine run for a moment or so, then shut it off and immerse the shower curtain. Now run the machine a few minutes or until the dye gets to the desired color. Let the curtain, go through the normal run of rinses, stopping it short of the big spin.

Wives Spending Third Life In The Kitchen

CHICAGO (UPI)—The housewife spends about one-third of her life in the kitchen, says an appliance manufacturer (Hotpoint) and 30 million of these kitchens are badly planned.

The U-shape is most popular because it has the shortest work triangle—the distance from the refrigerator to the sink to the electric range and back to the refrigerator. The sink is in the middle of the U, with the stove on one side and the refrigerator on the other.

The L-shape is second favorite among housewives, possibly because it is adaptable to almost any space and is planned for step-saving. The sink and refrigerator are placed against one wall, the stove against the other.

The corridor kitchen—in which sink and refrigerator are against the wall, the stove against the facing wall—has all the virtues of the other two except that it cannot be used as a family room.

The one-wall kitchen is precisely what its name indicates, and is used only when none of the others are possible.

Red Cross Chapter Announces New Chairman Of Air Defense

The Ross home of Mr. and Mrs. I. Wayland Bonbright Jr. was the setting for a recent coffee meeting at which Mrs. George McWilliams III was named chairman of the Air Defense Army program of Marin's Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Mrs. Bonbright, former chairman, who will assume new duties on executive board and on Board of Directors of Marin Chapter, also appointed Mrs. Joseph Tilt as the new vice-chairman, and named to the committee the Mesdames William Amans, membership; Chester Bunnell, secretary and publicity; and Edward Lindburg, telephone.

Marin County's Air Defense Army program is four years old, and has been the pilot program from which others in the country have been patterned. It has grown into one of the largest and most active in the Bay Area, with six teams of volunteers serving the Nike bases at Sausalito and San Rafael.

Volunteers in the program who were at the party were the Mesdames Peter Barnato, R. A. Caven, Gordon Dunn, Harold Keaton, William Purdy, Terres Ronneburg, Donald Swall and Charles Weidenman.

Other business at the coffee meeting included the awarding of stripes for a year's service to the Mesdames William Amans, Chester Bunnell, Laurence Scott and Terres Ronneburg, and an informal address by Mr. Robert Elliott, General Manager of the Golden Gate Chapter of the Red Cross. (The Golden Gate Chapter is the amalgamation of the San Francisco, San Mateo, Palo Alto and Redwood City chapters, inaugurated on June 30)

Elliott commended the volunteers on the work they are accomplishing, and expressed his thanks and those of military officers of the Second Missile Battalion, 51st Artillery.

Among guests present at the affair were Mrs. William Rattray, Executive Director of the Marin Chapter, Mrs. Albert Giesecke, Staff Aide Chairman, and the following members of the Board of Directors: Mesdames Thomas Mellon, John A. Geary, George H. Steel, Donald Chapman, John Dismukes and Theodore Lilienthal.

MORNING NUPTIALS

DeBenedetti-Purcell Rites On Aug. 22

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. DeBenedetti for the marriage of their daughter, Joy, to Francis Purcell Jr. The ceremony will take place on Saturday morning, Aug. 22, at St. Raphael's Church. The 10:30 nuptial mass will be followed by a reception at the San Rafael home of Mr. and Mrs. DeBenedetti.

Joy's only attendant at the wedding will be her twin sister, Mrs. William Hotchkiss (Jean DeBenedetti) of Portland, Ore. Larry Purcell of Palm Springs will be his brother's best man. Ushers will be the bride-elect's two brothers, Frank and David DeBenedetti of San Rafael, the future benedict's brother-in-law, Joseph Dunn of Los Angeles; William Temple of Oakland, Charles Doud of Sausalito, and William Hotchkiss.

The future benedict is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Purcell of Palm Springs. He is studying for the master's degree in geology at University of Southern California. He and Joy will live in Lomita, Calif., and she will teach in Palos Verdes.

Honoring Joy, a luncheon and kitchen shower were given at the Meadow Club on Saturday by Mrs. Charles Lund and her daughter, Mrs. Leland Sweeney (Annie Laurie Lund).

SOLO DUE SOON—Harry Tollefson (left) briefs his son Kurt on some of the fine points of an Aeronca two-seater plane. Kurt, 15-year-old junior at Novato High School, has more than 40 hours of flying time to his credit, is due to solo on his 16th birthday, Feb. 2, 1960.

CHECK YOUR OIL?—Kurt Tollefson, 15-year-old son of Harry Tollefson, owner and operator of the Tollefson Flying Service and the Novato airport, discusses flying problems with Hank Cavasso, owner of the Taylor Craft plane Kurt is filling with gasoline.

IT RUNS IN FAMILY

Novato Youth Is Air Enthusiast —He's Been Flying Since Infancy

By CARLTON WILLIAMS

Today, with more than 100 air hours to his credit — at least 40 of them spent at the controls — he is living mainly for Feb. 2, 1960, when, on his 16th birthday, he will take off into the wild blue alone on his first solo flight.

It all began when his father, Harry Tollefson, an instructor of Air Corps cadets before World War II at the Oakland Airport, met and married Lorraine, an airport secretary and fledgling pilot.

Moving to Marin after the war, he managed the Santa Venetia Airport until 1947, when subdividers forced the airport's eviction. Since 1950 he has owned and operated the Tollefson Flying Service and the Novato Airport.

With a flying father (12,500 hours) and a flying mother (300 hours), it was only natural that Kurt, their first child, should be airborne from birth.

"Whenever we take a trip we fly — we never drive," Harry says.

Growing up as he did in the backwash of a prop, it was natural that Kurt followed in his father's bootprints. Harry is the first to admit that the youngster runs the airport for him today.

"He operates the office, gasses up and washes the planes, gives out information on our training courses — well, he keeps the customers happy," Harry says with an understandable glint of pride in his eye.

"You had better check Mac out on his landing, Dad," the boy will report after watching a small plane set down on the runway. "He brought her in on a right hand pattern." Harry will head for the field, collar the offending pilot and explain that, because of the surrounding hills, landings are made from the left at the Novato field.

Kurt's duties — he works full-time at the airport during vacation — also include handling prospective buyers of planes, explaining to them the merits and demerits of the for-sale machines.

Having learned from his father that a satisfied customer is a repeat customer, Kurt calls them as he sees them in the matter of sales. "The guy is asking $1,250 for the Aeronca there," he will tell a prospect.

"I wouldn't give him a dime over $750 — the fabric is shot under all those coats of paint. It's a dog."

Kurt's formal introduction into the flying business began when he "started fooling around with planes" at the age of 10. By the time he was 12 he was handling the controls under his father's eagle eye and his mind was made up as to his future.

The only doubt that has ever plagued him is whether to go into the military or civilian end of flying. At the moment he wants to operate a private service "just like dad does."

The 50-some plane owners currently flying out of the Novato field have reason to be pleased with the youngster's attentiveness to business.

"You had better check that leak in your fuel line, Walt," he will tell a customer whose plane he has gassed and filled with oil. They know it is such little observations that keep pilots in one piece.

As far as the flying Tollefsons are concerned, Kurt is only the beginning. Following in his footsteps are his 9-year-old sister, Heide — who has logged more hours in the air than the average adult — and the baby of the family, Troy, already a fly-boy at 2.

In the order of their importance, they just happen to be (1) science fiction and aviation books; (2) movies dealing with science fiction and aviation, and (3) making model airplanes.

Next Year's Car Market Placed At 6½ Million

DETROIT (AP) — A New York investment survey estimates the 1960 automobile market at six and one-half million cars, up about half a million from the current year.

In an analysis of the auto industry, Value Line Investment Survey viewed 1960 as "a good year for production; an uncertain, perhaps even a chaotic, year for profits."

The survey said preliminary production plans for these companies call for 600,000 of the smaller cars and commented: "We see no reason for doubting the big three's ability to sell their new cars—the only question is, will they make any money doing it?"

Lions Studying Plans To Aid Retarded Kids

One of the projects to be considered by the Mill Valley Lions Club when it meets this evening is purchase of a set of building blocks for a class of mentally retarded youngsters who meet during the school year at 27 Meadow drive in Mill Valley.

This class, taught by Mrs. Lillian Anderson of Mill Valley, has become a special interest and object of aid for the Mill Valley Lions Club. This spring the club donated lumber and labor to build bookcases and gates.

Other new projects suggested in a letter from County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis are interior painting of the rented house used for the school and refinishing of the floors.

Retarded youngsters have had a chance to build with the blocks at a summer recreation program at Sun Valley School in San Rafael, also directed by Mrs. Anderson. The blocks here are owned by the San Rafael City Schools. The six-week recreation program is sponsored by the Marin Assn. for Retarded Children and financed by donations.

100 Quentin Inmates Leave To Fight Fire

As the convicts left, 82 others returned from fighting a blaze in Humboldt County.

THE NEED TO CREATE—Youngsters at the six-week summer recreation program for retarded children held at Sun Valley School in San Rafael are learning to build their own playhouse with especially made building blocks. Thieves Take Explosives Dangerous explosives have been stolen by thieves who broke into lockers at Ft. Barry near Bonita Cove over the weekend, Army officials reported.

The theft was discovered yesterday at an old battery now used for storage of explosive material by ordnance disposal units.

Included in the theft were 50 non-electric blasting caps described as very sensitive to touch or heat, 40 electric caps, 23 pounds of TNT, 10 pounds of another explosive, 200 rounds of 30 caliber ammunition and 15 fuse lighters.

Pack Mule With Wings Does Many Odd Jobs In Sierra

For 15 years White has been packing fishermen and campers by air into the Kern Plateau. But he's more than an air packer.

His green plane is used to scout for forest fires after a lightning storm, drop supplies to fire fighters, parachute medical supplies to injured hikers, and search for lost campers.

White is on call 24 hours a day. He has a contract with the Sequoia National Park Co. and the U. S. Forest Service for freighting and emergencies.

The tall, veteran flier who has logged more than 6,000 miles over the Sierra, says, "It would take a lot of mules to do what an airplane can do."

The icy crags of Mt. Whitney and other Sierra peaks are his traffic signals.

When asked about his more hazardous experiences, he says he dislikes the word hazardous, and adds, "if it's hazardous, you should not be up there."

For those who wish to fly in the mountains, he counsels:

Planners Get Praise For Sign Drive

A letter praising Marin officials' campaign against illegal billboards was received with apparent pleasure and ordered filed yesterday by the Marin County Planning Commission.

Addressed to the Independent-Journal, but with copies to the planners and the board of supervisors, the communication from Michael Wornum as chief of the Architectural Advisory Committee in Mill Valley commended the district attorney and supervisors for their decision to enforce provisions of the county zoning ordinance against "eyesore" advertising structures.

It urged continued support of the stand "that the value of the beauty of Marin County to the majority is worth more than its obliteration to the few."

A staff report was given to the planners, saying that of 24 billboards involved in recent complaints from the district attorney, five have been removed and of the 19 remaining, four have been painted over.

If Your Face Is A Smiling One Then Your Baby's Will Be Too

Do you laugh and smile at your baby? He learns from your face. He needs to see that you love him. Don't be a deadpan around him.

Your baby was born frightened. The birth process was painful to him. Breathing was new. Heat and cold were new. The feel of clothes was new. Eating was new. A lot of changes came suddenly. His mind wasn't fully developed. He couldn't understand what was happening. But he could feel pain. He could sense fear and be upset. If you've ever watched a newborn baby you know what I mean.

If he had good luck your baby's fears quickly diminished. Did you keep him cozy and well fed? Was he happy and comfortable? If so he soon began to learn that he was safe. In a matter of days he settled down. After awhile he greeted life with a laugh and a smile. The world was his oyster. I hope it still is.

Now he gives his eyes a workout watching your face. At first he could see little or nothing of you. Gradually a dark, friendly blur emerged. Finally he recognized features and expressions. Now if you smile or laugh he smiles and laughs. If you cloud up, he clouds up. Right? If you are expressionless, he tries to be too. Long before he can walk the pattern of his reactions will be started. Copied from you.

Were you raised to think expressions of feeling were bad? I learned to bottle everything up. It took me years to get over it. It was all wrong. Babies and children are better off if they can express their feelings. That includes feelings of love and companionship. You're better off too.

So laugh with your wee one. Smile. Sing. Cuddle him. Love him. He'll blossom. So'll you.

ALMANAC

On this date in history:

In 1735, publisher John Peter Zenger was acquitted of libel charges thus establishing the freedom of the press in the United States.

In 1790, the revenue cutter service was organized marking the beginning of the United States Coast Guard.

In 1792, English poet Percy Bysshe Shelley was born.

In 1916, the United States acquired the Virgin Islands from Denmark for 25 million dollars.

In 1955, Communist China released 11 American fliers after holding them prisoner for more than two and a half years.

Thought for today: Percy Bysshe Shelley said: "Poetry is the record of the best and happiest moments of the happiest and best minds."

Ask Death Penalty

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO ENGAGE IN THE SALE OF ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES

July 29, 1959

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Subject to issuance of the license applied for, notice is hereby given that the undersigned proposes to sell alcoholic beverages at the premises, described as follows:

901 TAMALPAIS AVENUE
SAN RAFAEL, CALIF.

Pursuant to such intention, the undersigned is applying to the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control for issuance by transfer of an alcoholic beverage license (or licenses) for these premises as follows:

ON-SALE GENERAL

Anyone desiring to protest the issuance of such license(s) may file a verified protest with the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control at Sacramento, California, stating grounds for denial as provided by law. The premises are now licensed for the sale of alcoholic beverages. The form of verification may be obtained from any office of the Department.

Installment Debt Up $452 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Outstanding consumer installment debt increased by 452 million dollars in June, after adjustment for seasonal influences. The increase was in line with the advance of the preceding month and pushed total installment debt to $35,810,000,000.

Announcing this, the Federal Reserve Board said both extensions of new installment credit and repayment of old debts continued close to peak rates.

During the first half of 1959, it said, outstanding installment credit increased by nearly $2,400,000,000 — close to the peak level recorded in the first half of 1955.

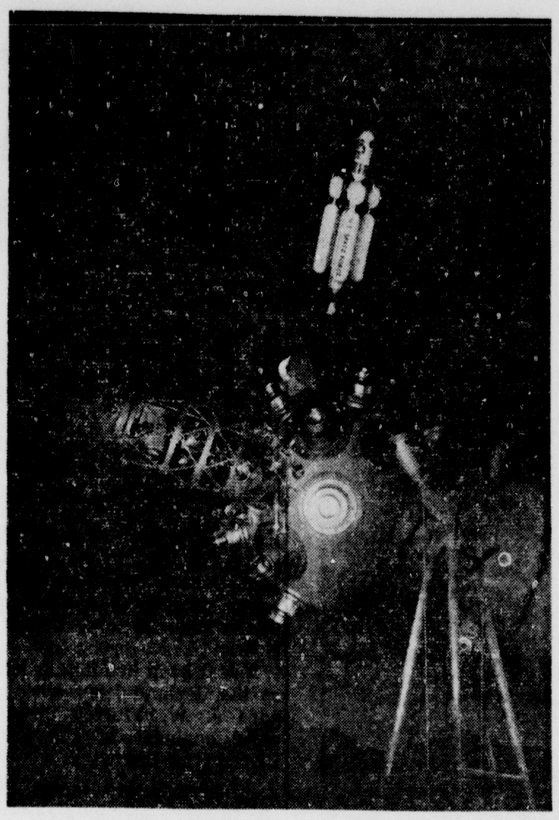

Overseas Campus

STANFORD (UPI) —Stanford University will open a second overseas campus in September, 1960, in Florence, Italy.

FAIR'S OFFICIAL GREETER

Tobey Tyler (name of this young fellow) is all ready to wave at men, women, children and even beasts who come to the Marin-Sonoma District Fair in Petaluma, Thursday through Sunday. Tobey belongs to the John A. Strong Circus which will give performances daily.

SHAPES OF TOMORROW

A lunar circumnavigating rocket soars over the Alexander F. Morrison Planetarium, one of many rockets to be seen in the show "Men, Moons and Rockets" now being presented at the California Academy of Sciences in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park. Shows are given daily Tuesday through Sunday at 2:15, 3:30 and 8:30 p.m. with an extra performance at 1:00 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

Navy Reservists Taking Training

Capt. Sydney P. Murman of San Anselmo and Cmdr. Paul Llewellyn of Greenbrae are taking two weeks of Naval Reserve training on Treasure Island, the former at a West Coast law seminar and the latter at the Naval Port Control Office.

Both are members of Marin Naval Reserve Composite Company 12-17, of which Murman is commanding officers. Cmdr. Weaver Meadows of Sleepy Hollow, the unit's executive officer, returned Saturday after two weeks of duty at the Oakland Naval Supply Center.

Murman is an attorney with offices in San Rafael and San Francisco. Meadows is chairman of the College of Marin Business Education department and Llewellyn teaches chemistry at the college.

Largest Radar Telescope To Be At Stanford

PALO ALTO (UPI) — The world's largest "radar telescope," a dish antenna tall as a 15-story building, will be erected on the Stanford University campus, it was announced today.

The instrument will be used to make measurements of Venus and Mars, as well as of the sun. It will also give new information about gases far out in space.

Its plans call for a revolving dish antenna 142 feet in diameter which will be powered by a 20-60 megacycle radio transmitter, most powerful ever built in this frequency range. The transmitter will require a million-watt power supply.

The project is a joint undertaking of Stanford University and the Stanford Research Institute, with support from the Air Force. The new telescope will cost $1,500,000.

Dr. Von R. Eshleman of Covington, Ohio, a 34-year-old professor heading scientists making the installation, explained astronomers hope to improve measurements of the solar system.

"If you want to send a space ship to Mars, you don't want to miss," he said.

Besides seeking more precise figures on cosmic distances, he said his group wants to make surface explorations of the moon and planets and to find out the rotation speed of Venus, whose surface is hidden by perpetual fog.

Eshleman said that by using low frequencies the telescope aslo can obtain "echoes" from ionized gases and debris in space.

This will make it possible to determine their amounts, movements and density, he said. The gases are found around various planets and in interplanetary space.

The new telescope, which was to be completed in a year, was preceded by a smaller instrument with a 61-foot dish antenna. It has been studying the moon for four years, and has been used to track satellites.

Both telescopes were to be located in rolling hills behind the Stanford campus, which will make the new instrument visible for 10 to 20 miles on a clear day.

LIKE CAT CHASING TAIL

State May Never Catch Up With Highway Needs

By PAUL FINCH

"I don't think we'll ever catch up . . . total miles traveled in the state will jump from 65 billion annually to 200 billion in the next 20 years and we're not tripling our roads," says Robert Bradford, public works director and chairman of the state Highway Commission.

"We'll keep building as long as the demand keeps rising," adds J. W. Vickrey, deputy chief engineer of the state Division of Highways.

Thousands are forced to move every year by highway relocation . . . about 610 million dollars will be spent on highways this year . . . some of the richest farm soil in the world has been placed under cement.

"The trouble is a Californian considers his car as his castle," says Bradford. "Commuters tie up the freeways in the morning and afternoon rush hours needlessly."

Total annual miles traveled on state highways jumped to the 65 billion figure from 37 billion a decade back. During the same period total registered cars increased from five million to seven and a half million.

Freeways are said to be necessary because limited access and roadside business restructions keep their potential volume high over the years.

Even the most congested freeways are three times as safe as conventional rural highway with moderate traffic.

Division of Highway planners of highways say the cement ribbons are actually instruments of urban renewal despite frequent assertions that they cause blighted areas and reduce local tax rolls.

"If freeways cause blight, why is it subdivisions pop up right next to them even before they're completely built?" asks Dexter MacBride, a division right of way supervisor.

"Property increases in value when it becomes easier for people to reach it," he argues. "And when a freeway takes traffic from a busy thoroughfare, the merchants do a bigger business."

Only 10 per cent of the houses in the path of a freeway are demolished, MacBride estimates. Those not beyond repair are auctioned to the high bidder, who generally rehabilitates the building and moves it nearby in the original community.

"Yes, a lot of good farm soil has been covered by cement, never to grow another tomato. But the same goes for soil under schools, libraries, playgrounds, and any governmental service structure you can name."

Recreation Area Bill Gaining Senate Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to set up recreation areas at 10 ocean and lakeshore sites has powerful support in the Senate.

The sites, in the Atlantic, Pacific, Gulf, and Great Lakes areas, include the proposed Pt. Reyes Peninsula recreation area in Marin County.

The SOS (save our shorelines) bill was introduced last week by Sen. James E. Murray (D-Mont.) and referred to the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee. Murray is chairman and five of the bill's 18 co-sponsors are members of the committee.

When and if the measure clears the committee, Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), a co-sponsor, will be expected to get prompt Senate action. As assistant majority leader he has a hand in calling up bills.

A similar bill has been introduced in the House by Rep. John D. Dingell (D-Mich.).

The measures provide for federal acquisition of 10 recreation areas, studies of 10 more, and aid to states in establishing beach parks. Among those proposed for acquisition are Oregon Dunes, Ore., and Pt. Reyes, and Channel Islands in California.

The bills would authorize appropriations of 50 million dollars for acquisition of the first 10 areas and 10 million annually for help to states.

Murray estimated the first 10 areas would cost up to 85 million dollars. The park service might be able to raise 35 million through gifts and aid, he said.

"There are those who will say this is a spending bill which should be defeated in the interests of economy," Murray told the Senate. He added:

"This is the most foolish sort of economy. Those who blocked purchase of shoreline recreation areas in 1935 have only succeeded in forcing the nation to accept a lesser program at an enormously increased cost."

Sen. Richard Neuberger (D-Ore.) said in a Senate speech:

"Great mountain areas have been set aside in our nation to form our national park system.

"But there is beauty along the seacoast as well as in the uplands. This grandeur has largely been neglected. Much of our scenic shoreline has been desecrated, exploited, and spoiled . . .

"Within the next 40 years the population of the United States will soar to the 300 million mark. We must make plans now . . . to meet the recreational needs of the future."

UGLY LITTLE BEAST

Nobody's Certain If Nutria Is Worth All The Trouble

One national magazine printed an article damning the beast as a destroyer of crops and duck ponds. In the back of the same issue was an advertisement praising it as a valuable fur-bearer.

The state Agricultural Department, which has supervision of nutria under state law, won't say. They'll refer you to a Better Business Bureau.

However, the department noted that 41 breeders dropped out of the busness last year. The most common reason: "The low price of pelts."
